CAPTURE IN WYOMING ENDS THREE-DAY REIGN OF TERROR

Starkweather And Caril Fugate Caught After 10th Killing

The Lincoln area's three-day reign of terror that saw nine persons wantonly slain in an almost unbelievable chain of events ended at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon when 19-year-old Charles Starkweather was captured by two Wyoming lawmen.

His empty .38 caliber revolver at his side, he told officers, "If I had had a gun, I'd have shot you."

He suffered head cuts during an exchange of shots with a deputy sheriff. With Starkweather was Caril Fugate, the 14-year-old girl who fled with him from the Lincoln area where police said he killed nine people. Included among the victims were Caril's parents.

There were rumors around the jail that Starkweather signed a statement admitting the slaying of Collison and wrote out an admission of the Nebraska killings. The rumors were not confirmed by any officials.

A tenth murder victim was found not far from where Starkweather was captured. Sheriff's men said he admitted the killing. The dead man was Merle Collison, 37-year-old Great Falls, Mont., shoe salesman, the Associated Press reported.

Starkweather's nine Lincoln area victims discovered over a three-day period included:

C. Lauer Ward, 47, of 2843 So. 24th, his wife, Clara O., and their housekeeper, Lillian Fencil, 51, found about noon Wednesday.

August Meyer, 70, living near Bennet; Carol King, 16, of Bennet and Robert Jensen, 17, of Bennet, found Tuesday afternoon.

Marion S. Bartlett, 58, of 924 Belmont, his wife, Velda, 36, and their daughter, Betty Jean, 2½, found Monday afternoon.

Rugged Country

The two teenagers were run to earth in rugged country where old west gunmen often holed up.

The girl was almost hysterical and ran fleeing to Deputy Sheriff Bill Romer crying out her fear Starkweather would kill her. She was in a state of shock shortly afterward.

Romer said she screamed to him: "He's going to kill me. He's crazy. He just killed a man!"

Romer said the gunman, who likes to swagger in cowboy boots and black motorcycle jacket, had made a crude attempt to disguise his flaming red hair with shoe polish.

Wyoming, if it chooses, will have priority on prosecuting Starkweather in the slaying of Collison.

Despite Starkweather's capture, Lincoln Mayor Bennett Martin said, "we're still in a damn sick situation. We still don't know whether the number of victims will stop at nine."

The bloody trail began less than 60 hours ago in Lincoln when the slaying of Caril's parents and infant half-sister was discovered. As police pressed investigation, other killings were disclosed until the total reached nine. The hunt was started for Starkweather but he and the girl escaped the frantic search.

False Leads

As National Guardsmen culled the byways of Lincoln, the stolen car driven by Starkweather was speeding west across the state line and into Wyoming. Behind them police ran down false leads in a desperate effort to nab Starkweather before any further violence occurred.

Douglas Sheriff Earl Heflin derided the tough talk of Starkweather, who snarled after his capture:

"They wouldn't have caught me if I hadn't stopped. If I'd had a gun I'd have shot them."

Heflin said that when Starkweather stopped his car and was caught, "He thought he was bleeding to death. That's the kind of yellow S.O.B. he is." Flying glass from car windows smashed by bullets in the short fight cut his scalp.

Heflin said a first degree murder charge would be filed Thursday morning against Starkweather in the killing of Collison.

No decision as to whether to try Starkweather in Wyoming or release him to Nebraska authorities has been reached, he said.

Starkweather faces multiple murder charges which could mean the death penalty in either state. Wyoming executes condemned slayers in the gas chamber and in Nebraska death in the electric chair is the supreme penalty. In the latter state, the jury sets the death penalty.

In Wyoming, however, Governor Wilward Simpson opposes the death penalty and has said publicly he will continue to spare condemned murderers.

Converse County Attorney William Dixon said that Collison had apparently been napping in his car when Starkweather drove up.

"Starkweather shot once through the window of the car and said 'come out,' Dixon related. Then he blasted him (Collison) five or six times." Dixon said Starkweather told him he wanted Collison's car because his own was "too hot."

An oil company worker, Joe Sprinkle of Casper, drove up to the scene while Starkweather was still there and stopped to investigate.

By DON WALTON

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—Donald R. Ross, 35, of Omaha was named Nebraska's Republican national committeeman Wednesday on the first ballot at a special session of the State Central Committee in Grand Island.

Votes of 35 of 58 committee delegates present (out of 83) lifted the young, personable attorney into the vacancy created by the Jan. 17th death of the late T. H. Maenner of Omaha.

M. M. Meyers, Omaha businessman who was an inactive candidate, polled 13 votes.

Gordon W. Diesing, Omaha attorney who initiated a last-minute drive for the post, garnered the support of 10 delegates.

For Ross, the nomination climaxed a triumphant return to the the city shortly after noon Wednesday.

A city-wide manhunt whipped into new frenzy before Wyoming Highway Patrol reports confirmed that "the most fantastic series of murders in Nebraska history" had been halted near Douglas, Wyo., in the late afternoon.

The toll had climbed to nine persons, including a two-year-old child.

Latest victims were:

C. Lauer Ward, 47, of 2843 So. 24th.

Clara O. Ward, his wife.

Lillian Fencil, 51, long-time housekeeper in the Ward household.

Investigating officers said the body of Mr. Ward was found just inside the front door while the bodies of the two women were found bound and gagged in upstairs bedrooms.

Mrs. Ward had been stabbed in the chest, back and neck and had not been shot, an autopsy showed Wednesday night. Miss Fencil was stabbed in the chest and stomach. There were cuts on her legs and arms.

Mr. Ward died as the result of being shot in the left temple with a .22 caliber bullet, the autopsy indicated. He also had been shot in the back on the right side and stabbed in the neck.

Cousin Went To Home

Police had been summoned to the residence after Fred Ward, cousin of the dead man, went to the home because Mr. Ward failed to come to the office Wednesday morning and phone calls to the house went unanswered.

The Wards' 1956 black Packard was missing and a 1950 blue Ford, driven by an earlier victim, Robert Jensen, 17, of Bennet, was found in the Ward garage.

CARIL FUGATE SAYS: 'Family Dead Nearly Week'

Girl Friend Implicates Starkweather In Colvert Murder Case

By DEL HARDING
Star Staff Writer

DOUGLAS, Wyo.—The Bartlett family lay dead for almost a week as a group of teenage boys, led by Charles Starkweather, plotted to rob a Lincoln bank.

That's what the semi-hysterical Caril Fugate told Deputy Sheriff Bill Romer of Natrona County, Wyo., just after she and Starkweather were captured here. She said her family was killed a week ago Tuesday.

She said she was an unwilling hostage at all time during the plotting and subsequent murders.

She added that the other three boys, after spending an unspecified time at the Bartlett home, "chickened out" and left only Starkweather with her in the home.

She also implicated Starkweather in the Dec. 1 slaying of service station attendant Robert Colvert. She said he was in-involved but had not actually done the shooting.

She said she witnessed every one of the nine murders in Lincoln and Bennet.

Every time someone came to the Bartlett home at 924 Belmont, Starkweather stood behind the door with a gun and made her get rid of them, she said.

This included a Saturday morning visit from police, who had been summoned by relatives who were disturbed at not hearing from the Bartletts.

When Mrs. Bartlett's mother, Mrs. Pansy Street, tried to get in Monday morning and was refused she left with a threat to get a search warrant. This was when Starkweather and she left, beginning a flight that culminated in seven more murders.

She said the pair fled Lincoln Tuesday night after the slayings of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lauer Ward and their housekeeper.

Other details of the gruesome chain of death were not made clear by the girl before she lapsed into shock and was put under sedation, Deputy Romer said.

Lincoln police officials late Wednesday, however, said there were indications that the Bartletts were alive after the Tuesday mentioned by Caril. They did not elaborate.

gate. The fugitive shoved a .22 rifle in Sprinkle's face and the two began to wrestle.

Casper Deputy Sheriff Romer was on a rent receipt inspection job when he spotted two men fighting over a gun near two stalled cars. One was Sprinkle, fighting for his life. As Romer pulled up, Starkweather ran for his car. The Fugate girl fled from the getaway car and ran screaming to Romer.

Romer radioed for a roadblock which was flung up hastily but Starkweather reared through it at more than 100 miles an hour. Sheriff Heflin and an officer gave chase, firing at the fleeing car. It careened through Douglas and five miles out of town pulled to a stop.

The sullen gunman offered no resistance. He had a .32 caliber pistol with him. It was empty.

Back at the scene of the struggle, Sprinkle stood near the parked car. Shoved down under the dashboard was the body of Collison.

Wanted To Help

The Casper oil employee was short and to the point about why he had jumped Starkweather. He had stopped because the two cars were parked and he thought somebody needed help.

When Starkweather jammed the rifle in his face Sprinkle grabbed it.

"All I saw was the gun barrel and every time I looked it got bigger," he said. Sprinkle is a husky-185-pounder and he won the deadly tug-of-war with the 5-foot-5 gunman. Then, Sprinkle said he found the rifle had already been emptied.

In a Douglas jail cell Starkweather slouched on his bunk glowering. A Casper newsman who was nearby said Starkweather asserted he had shot his Nebraska victims in self defense.

"What would you do if they tried to come at you?" newsman Phil McAuley quoted Starkweather.

As night closed in over this cattle town, a strict guard was set over Starkweather. The Fugate girl, who Starkweather said had been forced by him to go along, was under sedation.

Latest Developments May Link Starkweather, Colvert Slaying

Attendant Shot, Killed On Dec. 1

Latest development may link Charles Starkweather as a murder suspect to the Dec. 1 slaying of 21-year-old Robert C. Colvert of Lincoln.

Colvert, who had been on night duty at the Crest service station on Cornhusker Highway, was found dead later on a county road some distance from the station.

He had been shot in the head with a shotgun at close range. Robbery appeared to be the motive. Some $160 was missing from the station.

A number of persons were questioned following the slaying, but all were released. Starkweather was not among those questioned.

However, Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp said some facts and information now known tend to link Starkweather to the Colvert slaying.

Information has been developed that Starkweather borrowed the shotgun of his brother, Rodney Starkweather, several days before Colvert's death and returned the weapon a day or so afterwards, according to investigators.

Also it has now been disclosed that Charles Starkweather was acquainted with young Colvert and "had slept a number of times at the Crest station."

Police have seized the shotgun as a suspect murder weapon in the slaying.

These leads to the Colvert murder developed during the current investigation of nine slayings in Lancaster County since Monday, according to Karnopp. Colvert could easily be the 10th victim in this area.

ROKs Welcome U.S. Delivery Of Atomic Cannon

SEOUL (Thursday) — (INS)—South Korea jubilantly welcomed the news of American delivery of mammoth atomic-capable cannon to U.S. troops in Korea but at the same time renewed demands that Washington furnish the ROK Army itself with nuclear weapons.

The ROK reaction was accompanied by unconfirmed rumors from South Korean sources that in addition to the 280 millimeter cannon, the U.S. had also begun stockpiling atomic bombs in Korea.

These reports also said modern rockets, including non-nuclear Sidewinder missiles, are carried on U.S. planes being rotated in and out of Korea.

The U.S. introduced into Korea F-100 Supersabres and B-57s that are capable of lugging atomic weapons shortly after abrogation of a restrictive portion of the armistice agreement last June.

Broken Bow Trucker First Spotted Car

A Broken Bow truck driver was credited Wednesday with first spotting the hunted black Packard containing Charles Starkweather and Caril Fugate in western Nebraska.

Maynard Behrens of Broken Bow reported to the Nebraska Safety Patrol that he had seen a "large, shiny black car with license 2-17415, parked on Highway 2 between Mullen and Whitman and had written down the license number."

He said the car appeared to be unoccupied at the time. The time was about 5:10 a.m., he said.

He continued on to Alliance to make deliveries and was returning back toward Mullen when he saw the same car moving west about 18 miles from Alliance about 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Behrens said the car's occupants were a boy and a girl.

Following Behrens' report, Patrol broadcast at 2:24 p.m. that Starkweather or man answering the description was reported in a car with license 2-17415 on Highway 2 proceeding toward Alliance.

Triple services for murder victims Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bartlett and their daughter, Betty Jean will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at Wadsworth.

The Rev. George Kuhn will officiate. Burial will be in Wyuka.

The Bartletts were murdered at their home, at 924 Belmont, Saturday evening according to autopsy reports.

Ike Back In Capitol After K.C. Funeral

KANSAS CITY — President Eisenhower, black-garbed and solemn-faced, joined a limited group of friends and relatives Wednesday in funeral services for his eldest brother.

The chief executive flew from Washington, was forced by fog to bypass Municipal Airport here and landed at nearby Olathe, Kan. Immediately after the brief rites he returned to Olathe for the return flight to the Capitol.

Eisenhower's plane returned him to Washington at 6:49 p.m. EST.

The body of his brother, Arthur Eisenhower, 71, retired banker, was to be flown to New York City late Wednesday night for burial. A second service will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday in Westchester County where the body will be entombed.

The fog at Kansas City caused the President's plane to circle the area for nearly 25 minutes before arrangements could be hastily revised to provide for landing at the Olathe Naval Air Station. The press plane which preceded the President, circled Kansas City for an hour and 20 minutes before it also set down at Olathe.

There was one other untoward incident. An unemployed Kansas City man, Joseph Michael Galate, was arrested when he sought to follow the President into the Stine & McClure funeral home. Police said they determined the man only wanted to attend the services which had been limited to those especially invited. Galate was held for further investigation by the Secret Service.

California Missile Tests Set

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department Wednesday announced establishment of a ballistic missile training range on the Pacific coast that will eventually extend several thousand miles over the ocean.

The Navy was assigned to manage the new, major effort for all three military services. The range will use facilities, soon to be enlarged, at the Air Force missile training center at Cooke Air Force Base, Lompoc, Calif. and the Navy's own test center at Point Mugu, northwest of Los Angeles.

The Pentagon said the new three-service training range in the Pacific will supplement the work now carried on from Cape Canaveral, Fla., where the Air Force is in command.

The primary mission of the Florida range will continue to be research and development while the combined operation from the Pacific coast will emphasize training in the launching of intermediate range and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Tracking Support

The Air Force has already started organization of its missile training center at Cooke, a former Army base. The Pentagon said that the Air Force will continue its own training activities, but that when the time comes to launch long range missiles, the greatly expanded Navy operation will provide communications, tracking and instrumentation support for whatever missile is fired from either Cooke or Point Mugu.

The Navy said that to carry out its job, it will take over about 19,000 acres at Camp Cooke that have not been used by the Air Force.

The Pentagon described the Pacific range as extending 500 miles along the Pacific coast and about 250 miles seaward. The Navy explained that in some missile firings, test and tracking instruments will be installed along the coast as far northward as Monterey, Calif. and southward to the Mexican border.

Eventually, the Pentagon said, that ballistic missiles will be fired from the combined missile center toward target areas "thousands of miles seaward."

LOW-COST PLYMOUTH LOOKS, RUNS LIKE NEW—AFTER 58,000 MILES

It's America's biggest automotive value—when you buy it...and when you trade

Dramatic braking test made before top automotive editors. The Plymouth on the right had just completed a 58,000-mile cross-country run. Other tests included acceleration, ride smoothness, gas economy, handling ease. The 58,000-mile veteran performed like new!

One of the Plymouths above is fresh from the assembly line. The other, a veteran of the toughest test run of all time: 58,000 continuous miles in 58 days. A thousand miles a day through 37 states.

We put both cars through the same exacting tests. Acceleration. Gas economy. Handling ease. Braking efficiency.

The results: the Plymouth that had driven 58,000 miles—the equivalent of 6 years on the road—could hardly be told from new. Like the new Plymouth, it zoomed from 0 to 40, 40 to 60 in a matter of seconds. In a 40-mph "panic" stop, it halted within 38 inches of the new car. And in the vital area of gas economy, careful tests proved that the 58,000-mile car delivered almost the exact same mileage as the new Plymouth. It rode with a smoothness and handled with an ease that astounded even veteran test drivers... men who had thought they'd seen everything.

What does it all prove? Just this: from the day you buy it, to the day you trade it in, your new Plymouth will take you to wherever you're going... faster, smoother, easier, safer. You get more value now... and you look forward to more dollars when you trade.

Why not see your Plymouth dealer now? He'll give you a fair appraisal of your present car. Then you'll see how easy it is to own America's biggest automotive value.

Death Of Wards, Housekeeper. Caused Shock Wave Of Fear

14, of 924 Belmont, to bay were immediately launched from the scene of the latest slayings.

Mr. Ward was found wearing a top coat. There were indications he had just returned home and had been attacked from within the house.

The bounds and gags on the two women also backed the theory of early afternoon entry into the house. Indications were they had been dead some hours longer than Mr. Ward when the bodies were discovered.

An associate said Mr. Ward left the office about 5:30 p.m. and customarily arrived home shortly before six o'clock.

Police also said a Lincoln woman reportedly called the Ward home Tuesday afternoon to find out why Mrs. Ward had not attended a party at the home of Mrs. Blanche Anderson Tuesday and was told by a "girl's voice" that Mrs. Ward "was resting."

Thus, early speculation was that Mr. Ward may have been shot as he opened the front door gave way to later investigation developments.

Neighbors had said the front door of the Ward home was of solid construction and a caller could not be observed without opening the door.

Mrs. Ward was found bound by her hands and gagged in the south bedroom. Both the hands and feet of the housekeeper were bound, also with strips of sheeting. She was gagged also.

Investigating officers said every room in the house had been ransacked.

Fully Clothed

The three persons were fully clothed, according to County Atty. Elmer Scheele, indicating entry to the home had been gained by the assailants before bedtime.

Police were checking reported phone calls to the residence in efforts to approximate the time.

The Wards' dog, a brown Labrador, was found in the basement bathroom. In Ward's bedroom, a small poodle was covering under the bed.

Neighbors said that Starkweather was familiar with the neighborhood and the Ward home, which were on the garbage route that he worked.

The house north of the Ward home is temporarily vacant and other neighbors heard no shots nor saw or heard anything unusual during the night or early morning.

A description of the missing Ward car immediately went out to all local law enforcement officers and the Nebraska Safety Patrol.

City Sealed Off

Early strategy was mapped out to seal off the city and begin a block-to-block search of Lincoln.

Sheriff Merle Karnopp issued a short wave appeal for law enforcement officers in the area, even as far as Omaha, to converge on the city.

A sheriff's posse of citizen volunteers was being summoned by Karnopp. Perhaps 100 men had answered the call by late afternoon.

Mobile-radio trucks and vehicles of several Lincoln firms were being mobilized for patrol. Citizens were being asked to remain off the street and to leave their garage doors open so any efforts to ditch the Ward car could be spotted.

Lincolinites, following the progress of afternoon events on radio and television, kept doors locked.

Most parents called for their children at schools. Schools were dismissed at the usual hour.

But Lincolinites breathed more easily by late afternoon when word came that Starkweather and Carl Fugate had been apprehended in Wyoming. The tension of local law enforcement officers was released.

Charges In King Death

Earlier in the day, Scheele had filed murder charges against Starkweather and Miss Fugate in connection with the death of 16-year-old Carol June King of Bennet.

The county attorney said he had reasons for selecting that particular murder but could not disclose them.

The complaint, which set the date of Miss King's death as Monday, enabled the Federal Bureau of Investigation to enter the case. U.S. Commissioner C. M. Pierson, on the basis of the Nebraska charges, approved a federal warrant against Starkweather and Miss Fugate for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Car Moved

Police removed the Robert Jensen car from the Ward garage to the City Garage behind police headquarters for more thorough examination.

A Bennet High School jacket was found in the car. Police reported an empty revolver also was in the vehicle.

During a Wednesday morning news conference in the mayor's office prior to discovery that the Wards and Miss Fugate had been killed, Mayor Bennett Martin said he was personally offering a $500 reward for information leading to the capture of Starkweather and his companion.

One hundred dollar rewards were posted by John Carter of Lincoln, president of the United Garbage Assn., and Radio Station KFOP.

Long Conferences

Martin said his decision to post the reward was reached Tuesday night during lengthy conferences with police officials and an early Wednesday morning meeting in the county attorney's office.

Martin was conferring with Chief Carroll and several Council members concerning progress of the investigation, when the first reports of the newly-discovered bodies came in.

Chief Carroll dashed from the mayor's office. The other city officials also proceeded to the Lauer Ward home.

Train Kills State Woman

BAYARD W.—Miss Ella Beardsley, 80, who lived near the Milwaukee Road tracks here, was killed Wednesday by a freight train at a crossing. She was on her way home at the time.

Authorities quoted the engineer Ralph Judd, of Perry, as saying he saw the woman and rang the bell and sounded the horn. Officers were told Miss Beardsley was hard of hearing.

STARKWEATHER'S WILD EYES GIVE HIM AWAY

By CHUCK MORRISON

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP)—This fellow Starkweather doesn't look like the kind of guy who could kill 10 people. Not until you look into his eyes. They look wild.

Starkweather was sort of slouched on a bunk when I talked to him. He wore levis and a crumpled white shirt with blood stains on it. He had a little nick in his right ear. It had bled but not much. The first thing Starkweather said was:

"My ear hurts. It keeps on hurting."

There were a lot of folks outside the jail, looking at the stolen sedan Starkweather had been driving.

Shurfs

"What are all those people doing out there?" Starkweather asked. I told him they were looking at the car. He just shrugged his shoulders.

I asked him how many people he had killed. He gave me a wild-eyed look—no answer.

He didn't act remorseful. I knew the girl (Carl Fugate, 14, who accompanied Starkweather) was upstairs and under sedation but I asked him where she was.

"I dunno," Starkweather said.

Wait And See

On the surface last week's agreement between the United States and Russia for a broader interchange in the field of entertainment, political and economic comment and air communication opens the door to greater understanding between Russian and American people. Until proven otherwise it has to be accepted as a step toward peace.

But rank and file Americans will wait and see. Heretofore such exchanges have not substantially alerted the official tension between the two countries nor made any measurable difference to the people of either nation.

The success of this latest venture depends largely upon the uses made of it. If the penetration of this country is to become a means by which Russia hopes to pick the brains of America for information and techniques it does not now possess but would like to have to use against us ultimately the venture will be unacceptable. If on the other hand we see in it an opportunity to make Russian people unhappy with their own deal and possibly start a counter revolution then we have little business in giving the effort the cloak of peace seeking righteousness.

The weakness of past overtures and interchanges has been in intent.

Ol' Diz Tells 'Em

The immortal Dizzy Dean of baseball fame had something to say in Arizona about organized baseball for children. "When kids 7, 8, 9 or 10 years old are playing hard ball," Diz told the Phoenix Press Box Association, "they are not doing the game of baseball any good. Kids should be 15 or 16 before they start playing organized baseball. When you have little kids out playing as hard as they can, they can't take what grown-ups can emotionally."

The man who has done so much for a great sport will get a lot of controversy stirred up on that statement. There should follow now quite a debate over the relative merits of organized recreation for children on a competitive basis as opposed to other years when children were left pretty much to their own devices in finding entertaining pastimes.

But the baseball master does have some interesting points in what he has to say. For any organized sport for young children, there are a host of personal problems such as the boy who can't make a team or a team that never wins, the big differences that often exist in the physical makeup or size of youngsters in the same age group, etc.

But beyond that is the thought of organization or regimentation of children on many fronts. Perhaps there has been too much effort to mold the children of today into what we adults would like to be in future years. Perhaps much of what has been done in the rearing and educating of children has contributed more to the destruction of their imagination and initiative than to the advancement of their comprehension and desire. Ol' Diz may not frame his thoughts in the King's English but he has the substance, just the same.

Farm Bureau Jumps Ship

The American Farm Bureau, after six years of fruitless and recently none too enthusiastic support for Agriculture Secretary Benson's administration of flexible price supports, has struck out on its own. A few days ago it rejected parity as the agricultural economic keystone. Instead it pronounced for a weighted price support based on market averages.

In a nutshell the Bureau said set price supports at 90 per cent of the average market price for the previous three years' basic crops, the average being based not on the highest market quality of the product but on all grades of it as sold.

Growing Pains

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The Interstate Highway and its effects upon Lincoln's traffic system brought up a discussion of comprehensive planning and its place within the structure of local government. Another issue in Lincoln also has an important bearing on planning and on areas closely related to planning. This issue is the proposed industrial zoning of a tract of land along Highway 2 south of Lincoln at 48th. Being a question of zoning, the subject is automatically within the area of operation of the City Planning Commission. Zoning is one of the few city subjects which is required by law to be considered by the commission before the City Council is free to act.

The particular case involved at 48th and Highway 2 is an important one. Its importance has grown in view of the fact that it offers the potential of industrial growth in the face of Lincoln's loss of the Elgin National Watch Co.

For this reason, the case has received much more attention than it would have gotten without the Elgin development. In this particular case it is essential that the requested industrial zoning be considered on its merits and the over-all welfare of the city, not on highly emotional feelings. It will be well if the Planning Commission and City Council remember that, as welcome and desirable as the proposed industrial expansion is, Lincoln will not die without it or any other single endeavor. Frankly, we hope that the facts reveal the proposed site to be ideally suited for its proposed use. We fully recognize the need for industrial growth and feel the development offered by expansion of Cushman Motor Works would be a most valuable asset.

But we recognize at the same time that these issues do have their price and the price can sometimes be too high. It is not suggested that such is the case in the Cushman instance but the Council is going to have to be sure of its position and correct in what it does in this manner for a sound zoning point of view. It is important not only in this case but in the effects it could have on zoning throughout the city. If emotion is the determining factor in this case, it will bring a flood of applications for changes in zoning, all of them for "a worthy cause." People who knew they never had a chance before to get the zoning they want would come in and push for changes that wouldn't stand a chance in normal times.

If in a weak position on the Cushman case the Council will find itself with a multitude of king-sized headaches with zoning in the weeks and months that follow. There is another phase of the Cushman application which merits some discussion. Members of the Planning Commission and no doubt the City Council have been well educated, to put it politely, on the favorable aspects of this zoning change. This is not an uncommon procedure in such matters but it is one which should be frowned upon. Applicants for a zoning change, or their agents, should try their cases at an official open meeting, not over the phone, on the street, in private offices, etc. It is not fair to a public official to attempt to sell him on any proposition under such circumstances. The official does not then have the benefit of the thinking of his colleagues and is not able to weigh both the pro and con of a subject together.

Any zoning change is important for two reasons—its immediate effects on employment and the city's economy and its long-range effects upon the development of the city. It would be disastrous in the long-run if the first of these two reasons were ever permitted to destroy the place of the other. It should be remembered that there are things to lose as well as things to gain in just about every case of a zoning change.

DREW PEARSON

Low Cost Color TV For Ex-FCC Member

WASHINGTON — The alibi being advanced by Federal Communications commissioners regarding their free use of expensive color TV sets is that the sets were merely on loan from the manufacturers so they could more effectively understand the color TV problem.

This was rather a late alibi for pleasant ex-Chairman George McConaughy who has now retired from the FCC and gone back to practice law in Columbus, Ohio. When my assistant, Lawrence Berlin, phoned McConaughy in Columbus and asked him when he returned the color TV set he received from the National Broadcasting Company, McConaughy replied:

"I didn't return it; I bought it."

McConaughy left the FCC on June 30, 1957, so it took him about six months to decide whether to buy the $200 color TV set.

Note—The acceptance of color TV sets is one of the lesser charges brought against FCC commissioners in the secret memo prepared by Bernard Schwartz, counsel for the Moulder committee. Congressmen who once yelled over hams and deep freezes have run away from this probe like jackrabbits in front of a plane at the Los Angeles airport.

INDIAN ANNIVERSARY

This week is the eighth anniversary of Indian independence and today is the tenth anniversary of the death of Mahatma Gandhi. In 1944, I published the secret report of U.S. Ambassador William Phillips whom Roosevelt had sent to India to persuade India to give military support to the allies.

He recommended that if India was given the promise of independence it would throw thousands of soldiers into battle.

But when Roosevelt approached crusty old Winston Churchill, the prime minister pounded on the table and said:

"I have always been right about Hitler and everyone else in Europe. I'm also right about Indian policy. Any change in Indian policy now will mean a blood bath."

The Phillips report was highly confidential. I published it. Immediately my house was put under British surveillance and every possible source was watched. The British government in London even sent an abrupt cable notifying Phillips that he would never be permitted to come back to India. I published that too. After that the surveillance got tighter.

However, a few months ago I met the son of Billy Phillips whose report I had published.

He told me that his father was always glad I published the report; that it hastened the day of Indian independence. Some people suspected I got the report from Ambassador Phillips. That was not true. Phillips, in turn, suspected it came from Sumner Welles, then undersecretary of state. That was not true either. Where it came from is not important and will never be revealed.

What is important is the fact that India is now the biggest democratic nation in the world. And the words of Mahatma Gandhi are also important and should be remembered as Washington begins to consider aid for India:

"If India fails, Asia dies."

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Damon Dog And Pythias Pal

By HAL HASSELBALCH

Star Staff Writer

If diligent search were made, it would be hard to find two dogs with as much contrast in their personalities as the pair of canines in the S. Raymond Dolk household at 541 No. 70th.

On one hand is Spook, an unassuming, patient introvert that would never force herself on anyone. On the other hand is Beau who is a typically gregarious boxer with enough life for any two dogs.

But it is not in spite of their contrasting personalities, rather because of them that both dogs are living with the Dolks today.

Spook was acquired about seven years ago. Several years later a boxer was added to the household. Spook and that boxer immediately became almost inseparable companions.

Then tragedy struck. Spook's friend died giving birth to a litter of pups. For awhile Spook kept busy looking after the brood her dead companion left. But it was not long before the pups grew and went to other homes.

Loss of her companion hit Spook hard. "She lost all interest in life," Mrs. Dolk said. The once cheerful springer spaniel became listless and, at times, ill.

It was not until Beau joined the family that Spook showed any signs of regaining her zest for life. Once the Dolks' new boxer began drawing Spook out of her shell her outlook improved markedly.

Now, according to Mrs. Dolk, Spook is almost her old self. Bought for a hunting dog, she has never hunted a day. But she shows her sporting instincts by dragging home such trophies of the field as rabbits, sparrows and, during the holiday season, three turkey carcasses.

When the mood strikes her, she engages in long games with Beau, who likes nothing better than a good rough-housing session. Most of the time, however, Spook is given to naps and leisurely strolls around the neighborhood.

... their personalities balance out ...

Beau, emphasizing her more outgoing personality, seldom does anything slowly. She often invites the four Dolk children, Ricky, 8, Shelly, 4, Rollie 2, and Debbie, 6, to wrestle with her.

When the children are not around, Beau keeps herself in the spotlight by defying Mrs. Dolk to ignore her. If she attempts to arrange the bedclothes, Beau simply jumps into the middle of the bed and invites Mrs. Dolk to try and make a bed around Beau's huge fawn-colored form.

Beau might be completely uncontrollable were it not for the fact that she is of an extremely jealous nature. This is where Spook makes one of her most valuable contributions to the household. For instance, if Beau has chewed the shoe laces out of her master's shoes, as she frequently does, she can be thoroughly punished by a reprimand and a shift of affection to Spook. To be ignored or to lose affection to anyone sends Beau into a jealous pout. After one such instance, Beau moped for three days and Mrs. Dolk, Beau winning in the end, again, became worried and consulted a veterinarian about Beau's demeanor.

Thus it is apparent why it was said that it is because of their radically different personalities that both dogs can live under the same roof. Without Beau, Spook would be dead or intolerably boring to those around her. Without Spook, Beau would be nothing short of unmanageable.

But what do the Dolks think of this balance? Why, they want to add a second rowdy boxer!

AFS Scholarships

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am grateful to a "High Schooler's Mother" for her letter, published January 29, for I am eager that everyone should understand the American Field Service scholarships.

With respect to the Americans Abroad, there are two programs: one for students going only during the summer, one for students going for the school term. From foreign sources come the funds for care and maintenance abroad, travel abroad, administrative costs abroad, and school expenses. From U.S. sources there must be provided chaperonage, student travel round-trip U.S. port to foreign port, medical expense and supervision, U.S. administrative costs, totaling $500 per student. In addition each student must get to and return from the American port, and may but does not have to have a maximum of $100 spending money for purely personal luxuries. These expenses must be met somehow, and the American Field Service has left it to local policy. For years now the policy in Lincoln has been as follows:

In the past many Lincoln students who have gone abroad on A.F.S. scholarships have been able themselves to earn the amount of approximately $600 necessary for transportation and spending money. It has been the thought of those in Lincoln raising funds for A.F.S. that a student's earning his own expenses is one indication of his having sufficient interest in the aims of the program to qualify for the scholarship. Nevertheless, it may be that a well qualified student already is required to donate his savings and current earnings to other ends. For these candidates, individual and confidential arrangements will be made for such financial aid as is necessary. No keenly interested student should fail to apply only because he thinks he lacks the money for expenses.

Notice of that policy has been posted on school bulletin boards and handed to each student. This year parents individually were given an opportunity before their children's interview to make comments and ask questions. It is true that anyone can go to Europe for $800. Only those teen-agers who have a keen desire to make imaginative, intelligent efforts to understand non-Americans, to become for a while a part of an European or Asian community, and to draw constructive conclusions from their experiences for the good of their home communities and the world should apply for the American Field Service. The volunteer workers of the A.F.S. in Lincoln and all over the world make the most conscientious effort to assay the candidates' desires and abilities in this regard, and to select those who will benefit both the home and foreign communities most. Clearly, consideration of a candidate's wealth or social position must never play a part in that selection, and it never has.

Everyone connected with the American Field Service is most conscientiously eager that the exchange of teen-agers between countries should be a community-wide project for the good of the entire community and all people. Thus we are delighted to have this mother's constructive criticism and shall welcome her active participation in formulating and carrying out policy. The same invitation we extend to all Star readers.

JOHN R. BAYLOR

Urban Renewal

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: May we continue the discussion of the editor's note on our letter concerning urban renewal in the January 20 Star?

Your informant advised, "This authority would not set aside any existing laws." Answer: It would not have to. The day LB 431 becomes operative in Lincoln, all existing laws concerning the acquisition, clearance or disposal of property are automatically set aside. In Section 7(4) these words appear:

"No statutory provisions with respect to acquisition, clearance or disposition of property by other public bodies shall restrict an authority in exercising powers hereunder . . . unless the Legislature shall specifically so state."

The Legislature has made only one restriction. Sec. 15 requires a vote of the electorate before LB 431 becomes operative in a given city. Once a city accepts urban renewal, it can expect little attention from a legislature that meets once in two years and is very busy. The provision in Section 7(4) adds up setting aside all laws that might restrict the activities of the authority.

"Land and improvements could not be acquired by the authority without due process of law and just compensation to the owner, as the Constitution provides." Answer: We have already pointed out that the Constitution is out of the picture. Nowhere in LB 431 can we find any provision that calls for compensation to the owner, just or otherwise. Undoubtedly acquired property would be taken by due process of law. But due process of law is cold comfort for the loss of home and, in some cases, loss of business that provides the family living.

There are hundreds of citizens who operate apartments, beauty shops, dental offices, carpenter shops, or other small businesses where they live. These people might be paid market price for their middle-aged houses and yet find themselves destitute of any way to earn a living. There is no such thing as just compensation for forced evacuation.

"While the authority members are appointed, their actions are subject to the final authority of the City Council whose members are elected by the people." This is offered as a protection to home owners. Does it afford protection? The members of the authority are appointed by the mayor with the approval of the Council, Sec. 3 (2). If a vacancy occurs within the Council, it is filled, not by an election of the people, but by vote of the six remaining councilmen. Five times in the last 18 months vacancies in the Lincoln City Council have been filled by appointment. Would a Council thus composed disagree with any action of the authority? Could the five chosen members be expected to feel responsible to the people who had nothing to do with their election?

Mr. Property Owner, assume that your home and small business are threatened by an authority project. You wish to protest. You appear before the Council and are given the opportunity to speak as provided in Sec. 10. Now read Sec. 11: "Following such hearing, the governing body may approve a redevelopment plan if it finds that the said plan is feasible . . ." Think this through before you vote to accept urban renewal in Lincoln.

WINIFRED LEWIS

Foreign Aid Takes New, Private, Twist

NEW YORK — We have sent billions of dollars overseas in the shape of cash, food, arms, machinery and know-how. There has been no ostentatious show of gratitude, indeed there has been some resentment overseas of Americans who expected such a reaction.

Now we'll try another and humbler route to men's hearts. The International Rescue Committee will soon announce an exciting extension of its work of sending U.S. doctors and medically trained assistants into the under-developed areas of the world, to render service such as the two stations IRC's Dr. Thomas A. Dooley has operated in Laos for more than a year.

The new program, to be known as MEDICO, will take its pattern from the work of Dooley and of medical men of vision as Dr. Gordon Seagraves, the legendary Burma surgeon, and Dr. Albert Schweitzer, who will be non-governmental, non-sectarian — avoiding two problems that have arisen in trying to send U.S. government or missionary aid to certain neutralist or religion-fearing countries.

American pharmaceutical firms have generously donated $600,000 in medical supplies before

MEDICO is unveiled. The American teams will train local people to care for their own, then pull out after 18 months and leave behind all equipment.

Frank Cowell, of Kearney, N.J., writes indignantly (as have others) on the question of Americans still being held as POWs by the Red Chinese:

"How can you and I and other Americans be called free people or a democracy when this great and supposedly powerful country of ours lets three Americans rot in a foreign country? Why can't the U.S. government demand their release just as the Kremlin and the Reds in China demand and get from us what they want? If the United Nations is such a strong arm of freedom, why can't Ambassador Lodge demand their release?"

The demands have been made, Frank, and repeated perhaps ten thousand times in the course of perennial meetings between U.S. Ambassador Alexis Johnson and a Chinese Red ambassador at Geneva. Nothing happens, and the administration is on record as saying it won't go to war to free them. (Distributed By INS)

DORIS FLEESON

Major Issue Is Economic Setback

WASHINGTON — The economic recession is moving up as the major issue of the congressional campaign. Politicians are hearing more about it from home and their apprehensions are growing.

Carloadings are down 12 per cent as compared to five per cent a year ago and railroad unemployment has reached 120,000 out of a million workers. These indicators have in the past signalled that there is worse to come.

Congress is waiting to see what the Eisenhower administration intends to do. Beginning with the President, the administration has so far been determinedly cheerful. Its spokesmen profess to believe that the extra spending on defense in the new budget will provide the needle the economy needs. It is a view not widely supported by economists or financial journals.

From time to time stories have been published that the administration has ready various programs including public works, to take up any slack in the economy and that it will propose them whenever it becomes convinced that the situation requires it. The official reply to such stories is "no comment."

Meanwhile the political effects are becoming apparent and they go beyond the fact that the party out of power at the White House profits when the economic rain comes a steady downpour.

The threat of recession has narrowed the interests of Congress to a few major issues including missiles, the budget and education. The climate is becoming colder for foreign aid and reciprocal trade.

Less and less interest is being shown in controversial questions like the natural gas bill, civil rights and labor legislation. With the voters in a bad mood which might grow worse, few want to annoy further any substantial segment of them.

These trends are in evidence in all election years, but when the country is comfortable, they can be surmounted — given sufficient interest and determination.

Farm policy is another victim of the situation. Congress is dissatisfied with both its own old policy and the changes proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. Yet there is no serious effort afoot to end the distasteful stalemate.

One veteran senator anticipates that there will be only one really bloody battleground — the budget. He expects that already unwieldy document to be completely out of shape when it emerges from the session. It will, he predicts, be massive and bulge in strange places.

Even a big federal program from the White House would not avert all these bulges. For example, the "reclamation states" intend to get their water starts regardless of Eisenhower austerity. One of their own, Senator Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.), is chairman of Appropriations. Republican Senators William F. Knowland and Thomas H. Kuchel of California are whipping up GOP reinforcements.

All this indicates a maximum of logrolling of the kind brought to the status of a fine art in the old battles over tariffs, prior to the reciprocal trade system. There are always too few members of Congress willing to move out of the orbit of their own self-interest; the signs are now that the situation is about to get worse. (Copyright, 1958, by U.F. ### Trial Nears

BUDAPEST, Hungary (P)—Former Premier Imre Nagy and others probably will be tried this year for their part in the anti-Russian revolt of 1956, a high official of the Hungarian Communist government said.

In addition to Nagy, this official mentioned Defense Minister Pal Maleter, whom the Russians arrested while he was negotiating with them on withdrawal of their troops from Hungary. Top Communists, including newly named Premier Ferenc Muennich, now denounce both as criminals.

THE FACE OF POLIO

It's easy to forget a virus if your children have been vaccinated against it.

It isn't so easy to forget a face.

Americans can't forget the "face of polio"—the face of tens of thousands of children and young people who have survived paralytic polio but still suffer its disabilities. Those faces, like the little one in this picture, look to you for help.

Why? Because you can make possible the surgery and rehabilitation that can come only through contributions to the MARCH OF DIMES.

Slaughter 'A Great Tragedy'—Vic

Governor Victor Anderson termed the rash of brutal slayings "one of the greatest tragedies that has ever happened in Nebraska." The state's chief executive expressed "great relief" at the news Starkweather had been captured, and commended the "tremendous job everyone has done" in the case.

Anderson said he wanted to "commend the alertness of the officers in Wyoming for their fine work in apprehending these people."

The governor had ordered Nebraska's National Guard out in mid-afternoon Wednesday to aid in the capture of the pair when it was thought they were still in the Lincoln vicinity.

Beyond

"Naturally when I heard the report of the Wards' being murdered," Anderson said, "I knew the case had gone beyond what regular law enforcement could cope with."

The governor said he wanted to

Ross Named To GOP Post

top of Nebraska Republican politics, after the less-than-happy days of 1956 when the then-U.S. district attorney for Nebraska resigned under extreme pressure.

He vacated that prominent post because of what he called speculation concerning his relations with John Neff of Lexington, whose $2,500 campaign contribution offer to Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota touched off a Senate investigation of lobbying in relation to the controversial 1956 natural gas bill.

The Senate committee at that time absolved Ross of any blame. The Central Committee vote Wednesday completed the absolution.

The late drive to turn the national committeeman appointment into an interim, short-time position crumbled for lack of substantial support.

It never even reached the floor in the substantially harmonious, one-hour, closed-door session. Ross' term expires in 1960.

Ross, presently Douglas County GOP chairman, told The Star he was "very pleased" and intended to "carry on the tradition of Republican national committeemen" and "do my best to represent Nebraska's views."

He takes no issue with the label of "conservative" which he has attained.

Ross will fly to Washington Thursday (reservations permitting) to be introduced at the Friday session of the Republican national committee by Mrs. Edna B. Donald of Grand Island, national committeewoman.

He promised hard work in the 1958 campaign, "especially in one or two areas where we could be surprised," Ross declined to name the doubtful positions.

Ross was nominated by John Riddell of York. Seconding speeches were given by Jack Jacobson of Lexington and Mrs. Carmelita Dithell of Omaha.

Meyers was nominated by Floyd W. Pohlman, Auburn mayor. His nomination was seconded by Mrs. Balsa Cunningham of Grand Island.

Diesing was nominated by Howard B. Redden of Omaha. Seconded were by Edmund R. Fedorczyk of Omaha and Joseph J. Hayduk of Omaha.

Riddell was appointed by State Chairman Richard E. Spelts of Grand Island as new general counsel for the central committee, succeeding Ross.

Ross' duties, according to Spelts, are to serve Nebraska on the Republican National Committee and as a liaison between that body and the State Central Committee and to help promote the Republican Party in Nebraska by assisting the state chairman.

The delegates adopted a resolution citing the late T. H. Maenner as "one of the ablest and most loyal workers for the Republican party" in Nebraska history.

AF Discovers Its Missile Deviated From Sea Course

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force discovered Wednesday that the Thor ballistic missile launched so beautifully Tuesday failed to perform as well as was first believed.

After the spectacular takeoff of the 1,500-mile-range weapon from this test center, the Thor "flew its prescribed course and landed in the pre-selected target area."

Wednesday, on the basis of a restudy of data gathered by recording stations along the missile test range extending out into the Atlantic, the first estimate was revised downward.

The Air Force said further study indicated that "after a perfect launch and early flight performance, the missile deviated from its prescribed course and accordingly the flight was not completely successful."

There was no indication as to what caused the Thor to stray from its initially straight and narrow path.

Memorial Mass Set In California For Lt. Flaherty

Lt. Flaherty is the son of Mrs. Leo F. Flaherty of 4037 D and is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Other survivors are his wife, La Verne; son, Kevin; daughter, Jan; sisters, Mrs. Kathleen Brown of Carson City, Nev., Mrs. Joanne Potter of Gainesville, Fla., Mary Lou Flaherty of San Diego, and Karen Flaherty, a postulate at Marillac Seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

Terror-Hit Area Cancels Meetings

Meetings were cancelled Wednesday as the result of the man-hunt in the Lincoln area.

The proposed Cushman site zoning hearing at the City Hall was postponed and no future date was set for the hearing.

The farm and home meeting scheduled in Bennet Friday was postponed until late in February.

Newspaper

Gov. Anderson said as Mr. Ward was leaving the office, he saw a newspaper lying on a desk telling of the additional slayings in the Bennet area.

"Mr. Ward picked up the paper, read the story, commented on what a terrible thing it was, and was noticeably upset about the crimes," Gov. Anderson said.

After discussing the tragic slayings for another minute or so, the Governor said Mr. Ward left his office and drove home.

WARDS' FRIENDS HESITANT TALK OF TRAGEDY

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

Neighbors and friends of the C. Lauer Ward family were hesitant about speaking of the tragedy which struck in the white brick home on a quiet south Lincoln boulevard.

Friends, still numbed by the murders, thought first of young Michael Ward, 14, away at Choate School in Connecticut.

A friend of the family notified

Ward Headed Bridge, Steel Firms Here

C. Lauer Ward, president of Capital Bridge Co. and of Capital Steel Co., was a member of the board of Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Nebraska, the National Bank of Commerce, Provident Savings and Loan Assn., Norden Laboratories and Rotary Club.

A native of Lincoln, Mr. Ward graduated from the University of Nebraska and attended Harvard University and the University of Chicago. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Phi.

Mr. Ward had been a vestryman of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church. He was vice president of the Humane Society and a member of the Nebraska Bar Assn.

He served 3½ years in the Air Force during World War II, rising to the rank of captain. He was with the Judge Advocate's office part of that time.

Mr. Ward was a member of the Lincoln Country Club and the University Club.

Mrs. Ward had been vice president of the University of Nebraska Alumni Assn.

She was also a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Delta Gamma and the Junior League of Lincoln.

The Wards' son, Michael, 14, is attending Choate School in Wallingford, Conn.

Mrs. Ward is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Phil Sidles of Lincoln, Mrs. Gilbert Reynolds of Grand Island (mother of Bob Reynolds, all-American football player at NU in 1950) and Mrs. R. A. Skoglund of Red Wing, Minn., and a brother, Carl W. Olson of Lincoln.

Mr. Ward is survived by a brother, Dr. W. Paul Ward of Michigan.

Students In Northeast, Culler, Dawes Areas Must Attend There

Students in the Culler, Dawes and Lincoln Northeast Junior High districts must attend the particular school in their districts this fall, according to a resolution passed by the Board of Education.

The present sixth, seventh and eighth grade students will result in 290 at Culler, 280 at Dawes and 500 at Lincoln Northeast this fall.

A projected enrollment indicates 700 at Culler, 600 at Dawes and 1,000 at a third junior high school by 1967.

Indian Meeting Set

FALLS CITY, Neb. — Government officials will meet with members of the Iowa Tribe of Indians at Falls City Feb. 1 to discuss future plans for the tribe. A similar meeting was held at Reserve, Kan., near the Iowa reservation.

the school and the Rev. David Gracey, rector of a Waterbury Episcopal church and former pastor of the Wards' church, Holy Trinity in Lincoln, rushed to the school to be with the boy.

The rector and his wife were close friends of the Wards and the clergyman planned to accompany the boy back to Lincoln.

Only Child

Michael Ward is a first-year student at Choate and is the only child of the Wards.

An elderly neighbor of the Wards, Mrs. Mable Thomas, could only murmur "I didn't know, I didn't hear a thing . . ." and explained that the Lauer family used the rear entrance to reach their garage, and were not often seen by neighbors when they left the house.

Mrs. M. G. Volz told of a Monday telephone call from Mrs. Ward to inquire whether Mrs. Volz wished a ride to a morning coffee to be given by Mrs. Blanchard Anderson Tuesday. Mrs. Volz declined.

She later became worried when she learned that Mrs. Ward did not attend the affair, but inquiry showed that Mrs. Ward had become ill Tuesday.

A maid of another neighborhood family in the Country Club area said she visited Tuesday with the Wards' housekeeper Lilly and had been told that "both the Wards were feeling sort of sick."

Members of the Episcopal church attended by the Wards recalled that both attended services Sunday. Mr. Ward had been a church vestryman and held other lay offices in the congregation.

Friends Met

A group of close friends of Mrs. Ward met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Emmett Junge at a previously scheduled get-together and pieced together events of their past phone conversations with her.

"She's so busy that I don't think a thing about not finding her at home when I phone," one woman explained. "I called Monday afternoon and let the phone ring and not attend the affair, but inquiry showed that Mrs. Ward had become ill Tuesday."

The woman, calling about a meeting of a civic group to which Mrs. Ward belonged, said she had thought of calling later, "but never got around to it."

Neighbor children, released from their parents' close watch after Starkweather's capture was verified, said there were lights on at the Ward home Tuesday evening.

None of the friends and business associates of Mr. Ward or friends of Mrs. Ward who were queried remembered seeing the prominent Lincolnites Tuesday afternoon after Mr. Ward left the office of Gov. Anderson.

600-Unit Air Base Housing Low Bids Expected Thursday

Low bids on the 600-unit housing project at Lincoln Air Force Base, officially estimated to cost $7.5 million, will be announced Thursday, base officials said.

Bids were to be opened Wednesday but officials said checks with Washington had to be made before the actual lowest bid would be determined.

Bids were not scheduled to be taken on the elementary school, also proposed to be built.

Some 400 units have already been built at the base at a cost of over $5 million.

Dirty, Shaggy Starkweather Glumly Ponders Fate

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (INS)—Charles Starkweather, a glum teenager facing charges of murdering his way through Nebraska and Wyoming, sat in his gray jail cell Wednesday night wondering what will happen next.

Starkweather, shaggy and wearing clothing stained with his own blood, looked older behind bars than he is—19.

His hair, lackluster and reddish-brown, curled unevenly about his neck and ears. The only sign of neatness about him was his gold-rimmed glasses that clung tightly to his nose with the lens close to his eyes.

Blood On Shirt

His white shirt was ripped down the back and dirty around the collar. There was blood on the front of the shirt and on the shoulder—his own blood, shed from the lobe of his right ear cut by flying glass during his bullet-punctured chase and capture near Douglas, Wyo.

Starkweather's blue jeans fit his chunky thighs snugly and when he stood and walked in his cell, his black oxford shoes fidgeted on the floor of the cell.

Converse County Sheriff Earl Hefflin turned the photographers loose in the battleship-gray painted corridor of the jail at Douglas, and that's when Starkweather got nervous.

First he sat sullenly on the top bunk laced with an uncovered mattress. He smoked a cigaret and stared at his shadow thrown by the stacked lights of the photographers.

Then the youth eased down from the bunk and faced a wall. A moment later he looked out the small window on the far side of his cell to hide his face from the cameras and lights that kept blinking and winking at him.

Starkweather moved his body slowly and deliberately, somewhat nervously, but not defiantly. His face contorted frequently at the far cell window as he bit his lip and rubbed his large jaw with the back of his hand.

Faces Everywhere

Everywhere he glanced there was a face looking at him. He could have hidden by lying on a bottom bunk and turning his face to the corner of the cell.

But he didn't try to hide.

Somebody asked Starkweather,

"How do you feel, Charles?"

The teenager did not answer but Undersheriff John Williams Owca, a gray-haired brick of a man, spoke up from the corner of Starkweather's cell:

"There will be no conversation with the prisoner."

Caril Elsewhere

Starkweather's girl friend, 14-year-old Caril Ann Fugate, was elsewhere in the jail under sedatives. The sheriff said she had suffered shock from her experience.

Moments later the sheriff opened an adjoining corridor and put a plate containing a hot beef sandwich on an iron table. There was a cup of coffee placed alongside it. The sheriff came out of the corridor, locked the door and pulled a switch. Starkweather's door opened.

The boy went to the table and sat down thoughtfully. He picked up a sandwich, looked at it like it might be made of plaster, and took one large bite.

He chewed leisurely as though he might have eaten a full meal an hour earlier. When Starkweather was through the sheriff asked him if the food was all right.

Starkweather swung slowly around on the bench and said, "it was fine."

Those were the only words he spoke. The boy was returned to the cell in a few minutes. The jail was less lighted now and the lattice work of dozens of steel bars cast shadows across the bunks.

Skill Of Law Investigation Here Under Question

Could the investigative work of law enforcement officers in the Charles R. Starkweather case be better than it was?

Did the Lincoln Police Department fail to take steps which might have prevented some of the brutal murders of the last two days?

These are questions prominent in the minds of the public as well as city officials. Except from Police Chief Joseph T. Carroll there are as yet no final answers to the questions but answers are promised from both Mayor Bennett Martin and Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Junge.

The major area of concern involves the time which elapsed between 9:25 p.m. last Saturday when the Police Department investigated a suspicion complaint at 924 Belmont and 4:30 p.m. Monday when three members of the family living at that address were found dead on the premises. Reports show the possibility that the three victims had been dead at the time of the 9:25 p.m. Saturday investigation.

Could Be Earlier?
The question, then, is whether police investigation Saturday and Monday morning before the crime was discovered should have led to earlier discovery of the triple killing. The question is pertinent in that it is assumed that earlier discovery of the murders could possibly have led to apprehension of the killers before they fled Lincoln and snuffed out other lives.

Mayor Martin stated that he and the City Council will secure a complete report on this early phase of the tragedy and make public its opinion as to the adequacy of the investigative work.

"However," Martin said, "I am satisfied, from what I now know, that nothing more could have been expected from our Police Department for the period through last Saturday night."

In support of this statement, Martin released a full copy of the report made on the Saturday night investigation by the two investigating officers. The report, Martin said, speaks for itself and shows the officers involved acted in the only logical way.

Complete Report
The complete report is as follows:
"At about (time not given) p.m., 1-25-58 Car 16 received an 813 (code meaning 'call the station'). Off. (officer) (Donald) Kahler called headquarters where he talked to Capt. Harbaugh. Kahler was told that we should go to 924 Belmont to check at that address and see why some people were not allowed entrance to the home."
"We immediately went to 924

Belmont and knocked on the outside screen door. We had to knock very hard several times. D. Off. (detective officer) Frank Soukup then attempted to open the screen door and found it to be hooked from inside.

"I told Officer Kahler they must be home because the door is hooked on the inside. Just at that time the inside door was opened and a young girl opened the door. We asked her what the trouble was."

"She said there was no trouble but that her brother-in-law and sister came over and wanted to visit. She said that they were not allowed to enter because her mother and father and little sister all had the flu and that the doctor told them not to have any company because they might get the flu. She also said that her sister who came to visit had had a baby a short time ago and that her mother did not want them to come in because of the baby. We also asked her if there was any trouble when they did not let people in. She said no, they just went away."

"We then asked the girl for her name and she said it was Carl Fugate, age 14. She also said her mother's name was Bartlett but her's was Fugate."

"We also mentioned to her that it seemed strange that her brother-in-law would call the police just because of the reason she gave us. She then said well my brother-in-law does not like us too well and we don't get along too good so that is probably why he called you."

"There were no lights in the house on our arrival and no light was put on while we talked to Carl. When she came to the door it looked like she had on night clothes with a dark-colored kimono over them. It seemed as though she had been asleep and got up to come to the door when we knocked several times."

"All the time we talked with her she was very calm and did not seem at all upset while we talked with her. She called a small brown dog that was jumping on us and opened the screen door and made him go into the house. Carl seemed very sincere in her answers and showed no emotion of any kind to give us any reason to doubt her story so we left and went to 10th and Oak call box No. 5 and called back Capt. Harbaugh."

Explained Circumstances
"D. Off. Soukup talked with him and explained the circumstances to him. He said I'll tell the people what you found out. Capt. Harbaugh asked me if I knew who the doctor was. I said no, the girl did not mention his name and I did not ask her. I then asked Capt. Harbaugh if we should go back and investigate further and he stated it would not be necessary at this time."

Chief Carroll pointed out that at no time until discovery of the bodies was there any indication of foul play.

"We investigate thousands of domestic complaints a month," Carroll said, "and this one appeared to be nothing out of the ordinary. We had no legal right to make a forcible entry into the house and no evidence urging us to do so."

"It is easy to look back now and see what could have been done but we had no knowledge at the time of anything in the nature of a crime. I fail to see any grounds for criticism of the handling of this investigation."

As to the Monday morning investigation by police, both Carroll and Sheriff Merle Karnopp stated that, while it might seem hard to believe, there was no evidence in the Belmont house to indicate foul play. There were no blood stains and no bullet holes, Karnopp said.

'Routine Complaint'
"The complaint was routine," said Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Junge, "and properly investigated. As the statement (of investigating officers on Saturday) shows, the officers were satisfied that the people were sick. At this point, I can see no reason to question the adequacy of the Police Department work."

Carroll was asked if the officers investigating the complaint Saturday night should have asked to see the reported sick people in the house.

"Not normally," Carroll said, "unless they had some reason to doubt the girl. Even the relatives were apparently satisfied with our investigation and have expressed their surprise at what actually happened."

Mayor Martin said that details of the investigation beyond Saturday night would be thoroughly analyzed by him and the City Council. Until this analysis is completed, he said, it would be impossible for us to give an opinion on the sufficiency of that part of the investigation.

A second complaint from the Bartlett family relatives sent police back to the Belmont home Monday morning. Upon entry into the home, nothing wrong was found and no one found at home.

Carroll was asked if investigating officers Monday should have been suspicious of the empty house in view of a Saturday night report that its occupants had the flu.

"Not necessarily," Carroll said, "It was logical to assume that the sickness was over and the family simply gone."

Carroll was also asked how the murder suspects could elude police for about 48 hours and make their way out of Nebraska and clear to Wyoming.

Carroll answered that every available lead was followed and that the suspects had a good start on an escape by the time each new killing was discovered. Without good pursuit and investigating work, he added, some of the bodies might have not been found yet and the suspects still at large.

Father Insists Caril Traveled Under Force

By SAM HALL
Star Staff Writer

A 14-year-old eighth grader at Whittier Junior High School, who had her heart set on becoming a nurse, may never see her dream come true.

"I'm just tickled to death they got them," said William Fugate, father of Caril Ann, "and I'm thankful that she's safe."

Fugate continued:
"She's went through an awful lot the past few days. I just know she's been on the road all along against her will."

'Loved That Baby'
"She loved that little baby (the slain Bartlett baby) just like it was an angel. She always wanted to be a nurse."

"I know Caril Ann was held by guns. I just know she was, 'cause she wouldn't do it on her own free will. I wish she had quit going with Chuck. I never could see him anyway."

Fugate recalled the time when Caril was struck by an auto as she was crossing a street near Memorial Stadium:

"It happened on a Saturday. She was taken to the hospital and on Sunday she got up and went to church. She couldn't sit up and had to be taken home, but she was determined to go to church and nothing could have kept her home."

'Going With Chuck'
"Caril had been going with Chuck about one year," he said. "It must have been about two weeks ago that Betty (the slain Bartlett woman and Fugate's ex-wife) told Charles to go away and not to come back." Fugate pointed out. "She also told him to stay away from Caril," he added.

Fugate related:
"We thought maybe he might be coming here to the apartment (1136 1/2 K). I had a .410 gauge shotgun loaded and ready. I'd a stopped him one way or another."

Fugate described his daughter, who was an avid movie goer and comic book reader as being able to carry a conversation and "talk a blue streak."

"I haven't slept for a long time

I've just been listening to the radio and sitting here hoping and praying for Caril's safety," the father said.

"She played it smart by sticking with him. If she comes out of this without a nervous breakdown, she'll be lucky," he said.

"Thank God they got him before he got any more. How could a man do those awful things?" he asked with an empty look.

"I haven't slept for a long time

"All she wanted to do was just go to school and be a nurse—and Granny was ready to help her make it."

"But now," she said, "that money'll go into coffins for Marion, Barbara and Betty Jean," adding "the baby'll be buried with her mother."

"I can't help but think Caril was forced to go with that boy, and that he was going to kill her too," Mrs. Street said of Charles Starkweather, Caril's 19-year-old companion.

"We didn't want her to go with that fellow after they had a few spats, even though he looked like a nice enough boy."

Killer's Dad: 'Thank God He's Safe'

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

"Thank God he's safe."

Guy Starkweather had only one thought when he heard of his son's capture by Wyoming law officials.

"I have an idea he thinks he would be better off if they had killed him."

"I thought for sure they'd try to shoot him down," the 47-year-old Lincoln carpenter said after learning that his 19-year-old son was wounded but alive in a Douglas, Wyo., county jail cell.

Too Much

Mrs. Starkweather, who collapsed and sat sobbing at the news of the capture, showed plainly that the tension of the recent days of terror had been more than she could stand.

The Starkweathers last saw their son, wanted in connection with ten brutal slayings and questioning on another, on Tuesday, Jan. 21, four days before the killing spree started.

"He ate breakfast with us that day same as usual and his mom was worried because he had a cold but he told us he'd be all right, and left," the elder Starkweather related.

"I can see him sitting there, smiling, and acting natural but I mostly I see him like when he was a little boy."

'Had A Reason'

"He had a reason if he did this," the elder Starkweather said, "I imagine I won't go out there unless he calls for me. I'll just wait and talk with him here if he isn't too bad hurt."

About the girl, Caril Fugate, the elder Starkweather said bitterly: "She's just as bad. From what I've heard she was no hostage. She had plenty chance to get away if she'd wanted."

"It was all over her and her family I think this started," he explained, "because Caril's mother told him to get-out and stay out."

The elder Starkweather related that he had been told Caril was pregnant and that the "two kids" had run away and gotten married, evidently after disappearing Tuesday.

Starkweather's parents wait news at home.

"I didn't fight with him over marrying her," he added, explaining that his son had left home and rented a room after they had had words over Caril, who is only 14, driving the younger Starkweather's car.

Starkweather said his son had left their home after the argument about six months ago.

"He wanted independence. I told him he had a chance to make a good man of himself," Starkweather said, "but he didn't make it."

The stocky weather-beaten father explained he had "told Charlie to get out if he kept letting that girl drive," but added the fight and bitterness with his son was soon over.

"That was all over and done with, and about 10 days later we were talking and laughing the same as usual," he explained.

Starkweather said he thought there were many other factors that caused "everything to build up inside of Charlie until he went berserk."

To Lose Sight

"It could have been a lot of things. He has lost a couple of good jobs and that girl (Caril) has him wrapped around her little finger. He is to lose his sight within a year and he may still be sick from a recent severe cold."

Asked to elaborate on the loss of eyesight, Starkweather said:

"I talked with him about a month ago and he told me a doctor informed him he would be blind in a year unless he got special glasses. That may have had something to do with all this. . . I just don't know."

'Wouldn't Hesitate'

"I thought maybe he'd come home, and I don't think Charlie would have hesitated to shoot me," the man said in a tired voice.

"They say a man will not go against his own flesh and blood. But that's not the case now."

Guy Starkweather added: "I'm not going to be like others I've heard of and disown my own son. And they won't get anything out of him if they rough him up."

Asked about his son's possible involvement in the murder of gas station attendant Robert Colvert last December, Starkweather said, "Charlie had nothing to do with it. We talked about it and he said he thought it was a 'dirty deal' and thought he'd seen the guy (Colvert) around town or something."

Charles was hit in the forehead with a piece of lumber a few years ago.

Asked about the youth's connection with the Ward family, latest Lincoln victims of the murder string, the elder Starkweather admitted that his son had been on a garbage collection route in the neighborhood "and that seems to fit in."

He said his son never had mentioned the Ward family to him that he remembered.

'People Vicious'

Both of Charles' parents said that they were dismayed at "how people seem to be vicious toward us," and according to Mrs. Starkweather, who was interviewed before she heard the news of her son's capture:

"Life will never be the same again unless we are awfully strong or people are tolerant."

She told how "Guy went to the store for groceries this morning after taking the kids to school and the people in the store acted cold to him and one man even wanted to start an argument."

"Chuck is no better than anyone else who has killed," she said.

Mrs. Starkweather was less willing to talk about her son but she related that Rodney (another son) once told us something that scared me a little bit.

'Could Not Quit'

"He said that when he and Chuck went hunting and Chuck was using an automatic rifle, he could not quit shooting once he started to pull the trigger."

"He would shoot crazy-like and empty the gun at no target at all." But Rodney himself admitted that Charles was also a "crack shot—the game he shot always were shot in the head."

The elder Mr. Starkweather seemed to remain calm after the news of his son's capture but kept repeating, "nine people dead . . . nine people."

"I guess everybody can sleep tonight. I don't know whether I'll sleep though," the saddened father added.

Gaither Has Great Confidence In 'Inherent' Strength Of U.S.

NEW YORK (INS) — H. Rowan Gaither Jr., said Wednesday he has "great confidence in the inherent strength of the United States" but that "the future course of civilization" depends on how well America exercises its leadership.

Gaither served as chairman of a committee of scientists and experts which turned out the so-called "Gaither report." While the White House has refused to make this report public, authoritative sources said it warns that the U.S. is in grave peril.

In an interview, Gaither declared: "I have great confidence in the inherent strength of the United States. There is no doubt about its capacity for leadership nor its capability of discharging this responsibility."

Warning

However, he warned against depending on "crash programs" to meet the Soviet scientific and military challenge, declaring: "There are certain things you can do with an extraordinary expenditure of money and manpower. But to assume you can accomplish everything by crash programs is a fallacy."

"Scientific programs must start with the training of engineers and scientists, and there is no way you can crash that. It takes time. Research in itself takes time . . ."

Gaither, who is now chairman of the board of the Ford Foundation, called for vast improvement in the American educational system. He said the U.S. needs more teachers, more schools, more educational facilities and better educational "content."

No Attack Seen

WASHINGTON (INS) — Adm. Arleigh Burke said in secret testimony made public Wednesday night that he does not think a "prudent" Soviet commander would attack the United States in the foreseeable future.

The chief of naval operations told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee that it is difficult to say whether Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev is a prudent man but added: "I believe he would be prudent so far as starting a war is concerned."

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson said that Burke's testimony "confirmed substantially" what he was told earlier by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Johnson's statement came after the Texan asked Burke: "So, assuming the man that had responsibility for pushing the (war) button was a prudent man, you do not believe he would press the button."

Burke replied: "No sir, I do not think he would."

The Navy's top officer testified behind closed doors Jan. 20. The transcript was made public after heavy security deletions.

Burke disclosed to the committee that he had asked 400 million dollars for anti-submarine warfare in the new budget but that this was cut to 150 million.

Graduate scholarships have been awarded to two former University of Nebraska School of Journalism students by other institutions.

Prober Says Documents Missing From FCC File

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John B. Williams (D-Miss.) said Wednesday night he has been reliably informed that certain unspecified documents are missing from the files of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

Williams is a member of a House Investigating Committee which decided to start open hearings Monday on the conduct of FCC members.

The Mississippi Democrat said both he and Rep. Flynt (D-Ga.), another committee member, have been told that documents were missing.

Asked if they might be pertinent to the House inquiry, he said he could not say.

"Don't Know"

George O. Gilliam, FCC chief of information, was asked about the matter and replied, "I don't know a thing about it."

A woman who answered the phone at the home of John C. Doerfer, FCC chairman, said Doerfer wasn't able to come to the phone and would not be available.

The committee, headed by Rep.

K.C. 'Suspects' Turn Out To Be Young Omahans

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A hitchhiking couple from Omaha was picked up and then released by Kansas City police Wednesday morning during the widespread search for Charles Starkweather and Caril Fugate, Lincoln teenagers captured later in the day as suspects in the nine Nebraska slayings.

The Omaha couple were identified as Nathan Earl Edwards, 20, and his wife, Sarah, 16, who established that they were on their way to New Orleans. They said they were married here last Oct. 3 and had been in Denver, Los Angeles and Omaha since.

The police picked them up here after a motorist, who gave them a ride from Maryville, Mo., to Kansas City Tuesday night, reported he thought they resembled the Lincoln youths.

All-Nebraska Company To Be Formed By Navy

Deductions—Important Do's And Don'ts Listed

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

The DO'S and DON'TS of deductions on income tax forms are important for every taxpayer, and essential when it comes to filling out Page 2 of Form 1040.

If you itemize deductions on the long form, 1040, you can deduct most state and local tax payments. Federal taxes are never deductible except for certain ones paid in connection with a business or profession.

You can deduct: Personal property taxes, state gasoline taxes, auto license fees, state capitation or poll taxes.

You cannot deduct: Any federal excise taxes paid on your personal expenditures, such as theater admissions, furs, jewelry, telephone, etc.; federal social security taxes, hunting or dog licenses; water taxes, or taxes paid for another person.

Nebraska is one of the few states where cigarette taxes are deductible by the consumer. You can deduct three cents a pack for cigarettes bought before Sept. 20, 1957, and four cents a pack for those bought after that date.

Whenever real estate is sold, the deductions of real estate taxes is apportioned between the buyer and the seller according to the number of days in the real property tax year that each held the property.

If you are a tenant-stockholder in co-operative housing or apartment corporation, you can deduct your proportionate share of the real estate taxes paid by the co-operators.

Some Taxes Not Deductible

However, in most cases you are not permitted to deduct taxes assessed for paving or other local improvement, which tend to increase the value of your property.

You cannot deduct Social Security taxes or Railroad Retirement taxes withheld by your employer, nor can you deduct Social Security taxes paid by you on the wages of your maid or domestic help.

You cannot deduct self-employment taxes you pay on your earnings from self-employment.

If you work for a salary or wages, you can deduct the ordinary and necessary expenses you pay for the benefit of your employer, if not claimed elsewhere on your tax return.

The IRS releases information on the lesser known deductions in order to allow taxpayers to figure their own returns as fairly as possible.

Rocketry Tips Offered By Fire Marshal

Several tips on making and launching amateur rockets, in order to promote safety, were offered by State Fire Marshal E. C. Iverson.

Iverson met with C. J. Frankfurter, formerly with the University of Nebraska chemistry department; W. A. Schindler of the State Department of Public Instruction, and Orville Carlisle of Norfolk, who makes rockets, to promote school safety and supervision procedures.

Suggestions included:

1. Those interested in rockets should contact an experienced person, especially in regard to choosing ingredients.

2. Rockets should be made of material other than metal, such as wood or heavy pressed paper, to eliminate the danger of fragments.

3. Nitrates and sulphurs should not be used unless qualified science teachers or chemists are consulted.

4. Persons interested in rockets should form a "missile club" to learn proper procedures and promote safety.

State Grain Tax Constitutionality Opinion Asked

Nebraska's attorney general has been asked to rule on the constitutionality of the complicated new grain tax law passed by the 1957 Legislature.

Assistant Attorney General Homer Hamilton confirmed that such a request has been made of that office and said one query came from Cuming County Attorney Richard Moodie of West Point.

The new method of taxation places an annual tax on grain and seed which is produced, harvested, processed or transported for sale or resale.

Moodie's questions concerned the apparent inability for counties to set tax levies because it is unknown how much revenue the new law will yield.

State Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington has asked the State Board of Equalization if it is possible to set the state mill levy with this unknown factor.

Several requests were made at the Nebraska County Assessors annual convention in Omaha last week that the controversial grain tax law be repealed.

WEATHER AHEAD

Temperatures will average near normal over Nebraska for the next five days with only minor day to day changes. Normal afternoon highs range from near 30 in the northeast corner to near 40 in the Panhandle and southwest; normal morning lows range from 10 along the northern border to 16 in the southeastern corner of the state.

The Star In Suburbia

EASTBOROUGH

It's time to roll out our much-used red carpet and spread the welcome mat this morning for a multitude of newcomers in the Eastborough suburb.

We'll begin with a family four—Lt. and Mrs. Richard Curtis and their two sons, Jerry, aged 4, and Jimmy, aged 2, who are all settled in their home at 7135 South Eldora Lane. The Curtis family arrived in Lincoln in December from Morocco, North Africa, where Lt. Curtis was stationed at Ben Guerir Air Force Base.

Next on our list of newcomers are Mr. and Mrs. Don Harter who moved into their suburb home at 7040 Eastborough Lane the first of January. The Harters formerly resided at 1626 D Street.

Mention of the Harter couple reminds us that they entertained last Sunday when their guests were Mr. Harter's sister, Miss Margaret Harter and her fiancé Dick Trojan, both of Beaver Crossing; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph O'Conner of Fairmont.

We also bid a welcome this afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Allan B. Holbert who have been residing in their suburb home at 510 Northborough Lane since the latter part of December. The Holberts formerly resided at 1416 B Street.

Capt. and Mrs. John R. Reeder who, with their children, Mary Therese and Kathleen, have resided at 511 Eldora Lane for about three months have been busy making acquaintances and entertaining for other new residents in the neighborhood. Complimenting Lt. and Mrs. William Giles at a recent "welcoming party" were the Reeder couple who had as their guests several Eastborough friends. On hand for the informal get-together besides the honorees were Mr. and Mrs.

Gaylen Fritchie, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strong, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Talbot, Capt. and Mrs. Richard Paul and Miss Carolyn Mack.

Six couples were among the guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hudkins last Friday when they entertained at a "get-acquainted" buffet supper in courtesy to Lt. and Mrs. William Giles.

Another hostess entertaining this morning to honor Mrs. Giles will be Mrs. Robert Strong who will have as her guests for an informal coffee Mrs. Robert Talbot, Mrs. Walter Hudkins, Mrs. Jack Reeder, Mrs. Clarence Humphreys and Mrs. Tom Healey.

Lt. and Mrs. Giles, by the way, moved into their suburb home at 435 North 70th Street about five weeks ago. Also getting acquainted to the area with the Giles couple are their black poodle dog, Toddy, and white cat, Crandell, who are moving about at a rapid pace to keep up with the neighborhood to-do's!

Understand that Mrs. Jack Reeder was a hostess in her home on Saturday evening, Jan. 18, when she entertained at a surprise party in courtesy to Capt. Reeder in celebration of his birthday anniversary. Nine couples were on hand for the hors d'oeuvres party at which charades provided the evening's entertainment. The early dessert supper served by the hostess consisted of a cleverly decorated model B-47 cake.

Turning now to other events we learn that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strong had a festive affair in their home on Saturday evening which was a pinocle party and evening dessert. Guests included Capt. and Mrs. Jack Reeder and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Talbot.

Then heard that Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Green and Timmy had as their guests last Thursday and Friday Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Schwarz of Home, Kan., and Mr. Green's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Green of Danbury.

CHATTER In The CORRIDOR

By ANNE SOWLES and NEAL HIGGINS

Mid-year vacation brought a welcome relief from studies as many merely loafed and enjoyed themselves.

Results from the many scholarships, taken in the fall, were returned to the schools during the week. Virginia Schilling won the Betty Crocker scholarship from Southeast and the results of her test have been entered in the local contest. The University of Nebraska's Regents Scholarship recipients have been announced but are being withheld from the public until they are announced in the "Southeast Clarion."

Virgil Kubert, Tom Gould, and Dick Nelson passed the scholastic division of the NROTC Scholarship and must now pass the physical division of the test before they receive the scholarship. Congratulations also to John Bentley for being appointed to attend the United States Naval Academy.

Many couples spent the vacation attending various movies in the city. Some of those we saw were John Dobson and Ruthie Reed, Jon Van Bloom and Leah Cheuvront, Tom Davies and Diana Hale, and Dave Myers and Lynn Wright.

For the past two weeks Southeast has played basketball games out of town and buses have carried fans to support their teams. During the long trips songs were sung, card games were played, and even some studying was done.

"Nite of Knights" is approaching in the near future and the students are busy planning their various variety acts. Try-outs will be held during the month of February and the performance will be given in March.

This month's Seventeen features their high school advisory board from throughout the United States. Three of the girls from Lincoln stores go to Southeast. They are Lynn Wright, Joan Davies, and Ann Sowles.

Mrs. Thomas S. North, Jr., was honored Wednesday morning at a 9:30 o'clock to 11 o'clock coffee when the officers and board members of Merle Beattie PTA entertained at the school.

Mrs. North, who recently resigned as president of Merle Beattie PTA, will leave in the near future with her husband and children, John and Janet, to reside at Memphis, Tenn.

Fred Stastny served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Benjamin Goble, Jr., of Beatrice; James Seberger, Lexington; George Stastny, also a brother of the bridegroom, Joseph Eichberger, Gary Gustafson, Richard Holt and James Lee.

The bride's gown of white silk taffeta and Alencon lace was designed in the period mode. Natural scallops of the lace sprinkled with iridescent sequins formed the jewel neckline of the long-sleeved bodice of lace, and the silk skirt was caught into side fullness by flat bows of the silk in the polonaise effect and extended into a train. Her illusion veil was held by a coronet of lace trimmed with pearls and sequins, and she carried a cascade of white carnations, sweetheart roses and ivy.

A reception was held in the parlors of the church. Upon returning from a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in Lincoln where the bridegroom is a student at the University of Nebraska. Mrs. Stastny attended the University of Nebraska and was a member of Towne Club.

Town Talk

WE'VE just finished thumbing through our little red book and have come to the conclusion that the last week in January really is quite gay. We found a generous dotting of parties on the calendar for the next few days—and for every party an attractive reason.

Yesterday's dessert bridge, given by Mrs. Jerry Solomon (Barbara Stephens) and Mrs. Carter Iddings, had as its incentive Mrs. William Olson, the former Joyce Johnson. The affair was a pink and blue courtesy to Mrs. Olson.

IT IS a bride-elect—Miss Connie Peterson—who is to be complimented on Saturday when Mrs. Harry Dreith and her daughter, Miss Nancy Dreith, are hostesses at a mother-daughter tea. The 18 guests, including Miss Peterson's bridal attendants and their mothers, will present the honoree with a one-gift shower.

AND this morning Miss Peterson, whose marriage to Ronald Merry takes place on Feb. 14, makes announcement of the attendants. For her maid of honor Miss Peterson has chosen Miss Sally Leacock, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Carole Martin, Miss Nancy Dreith, Miss Lorraine Bullock, and Miss Carolyn Kreiss. Mrs. Ben Gadd, Jr., and Miss Virginia Gessner will light the candles.

Dennis Merry will serve his brother as best man, and the sixsome of ushers will include Ron Kastanek, Dallas Drda, Robert Atkins, Adrian Wolfe, George Porter and Richard Youngsac.

THEN we learned that a guest is to be complimented a week from today when Mrs. Robert Sherwood (Martha Lee Miller) is a hostess at her home. Mrs. Sherwood has invited a small group of guests for a dessert bridge in honor of Mrs. Doug Dale (Sally Mallory) of Omaha who arrived on Tuesday to spend several days as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Mallory.

ALPHA Chi Omega and Phi Kappa Psi circles will be interested in a new address we have on hand—It is for Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Brittin, Jr., and their small daughter, Leslie, who now are at home at 635 E. King, Owosso, Mich. Mr. Brittin, who recently was released from the navy and had been stationed at Pensacola, Fla., now is an engineer with the Redman Corp.

Spending several weeks vacationing in Phoenix, Ariz., is Mrs. Ben Plautz who left Lincoln by plane on Jan. 18 for a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin S. Bacon and their son, Alan Fay. Mrs. Bacon, the former Geraldine Plautz, and her family recently moved to Phoenix from Lincoln.

Dear Abby . . .

Father Needs Help!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How do you cope with a man who has a temper like a madman? Once he couldn't find what he was looking for in a desk drawer, so he pulled out all the drawers and smashed them to bits. Another time he got mad because he couldn't get a clear picture on our TV set, after paying $36.00 to get it repaired, so he put his fist right through the TV set. He was off work two days and the doctor and X-ray bills ran him $35.00. He scares the kids and upsets me.

UPSET DEAR ABBY: Your husband is emotionally still in knee breeches. His fist will heal—but he is seeing the doctor about the wrong department. Someone who deals with emotional problems could do more for him.

DEAR ABBY: I asked a girl in my class for her graduation picture and she gave me a picture of herself I am afraid to take home. It is one of her in a two-piece bathing suit that is all wet. I don't know why she did this. I never took her out but I have been thinking about it. I am 17 and she is 18. Do you think I would be making a fool of myself if I asked her to go to a show with me?

A SHY GUY DEAR SHY: If any guy ever got the "come-on"—you did. Go ahead and ask her, but you'd better have a talk with your Scoutmaster first.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widower with two little boys under five years old. I live with my mother and she cares for the boys. I am still a young man (26) and hold a good job. I would like to marry again but so far no luck. My mother tells me when I meet a woman I should not tell her that I was married, lost my wife and have two children because the minute they hear that they run the other way. She says if I get them to like me first they will not object to my past, but I should give them a chance to like me. It doesn't sound right to me. What's your opinion?

A FATHER OF TWO DEAR FATHER: It doesn't "sound" right because it's wrong. Tell the girls what your status is immediately. If they run the other way, you've lost nothing.

DEAR ABBY: I raised a son practically singlehanded. I sacrificed many things so he could Serving Mr. Wichman as best man will be Michael Wepprich of Washington, Mo., and the ushers will include Tom Kiker of Omaha and Charles Behrens.

The bridegroom-elect's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Henry W. Wichman of Elkhart, Ind., plan to arrive in Lincoln on Feb. 12, to be host and hostess the following evening at a pre-nuptial dinner honoring their son and his fiancée. The party will be held at Cotner Terrace and members of the families and wedding party will be included among the guests.

On Tuesday, Jan. 21, the bride-elect's aunt, Mrs. Carl D. Behrens, entertained nine guests at a dessert supper at her home. During the informal evening a linen shower was presented to Miss Nelson.

In pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss

Connie Peterson whose marriage to Ronald Merry will take place on Friday, Feb. 14, Mrs. Floyd Alcorn and Mrs. Hermance Soladani entertained at a dessert supper and miscellaneous shower held at the Alcorn home on Wednesday, Jan. 29.

Honoring the bride-to-be on Tuesday, Jan. 28, was Miss Sally Leacock. During the evening affair which was held at the Leacock home, a kitchen shower was presented to the honoree.

A bride-elect of mid-February is Miss Delores Kieckhafer whose marriage to Russell Briggs will be an event of Sunday, Feb. 16. For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at the Lutheran Chapel on the University of Nebraska campus, Miss Kieckhafer has named her sister, Mrs. Sterling Olson as her matron of honor and only attendant.

Steve Pederson of Berwyn will serve Mr. Briggs as best man, and seating the guests for the 3 o'clock ceremony will be Sterling Olson and Robert Smith of Broken Bow.

Space Unit To Be Set In 'Day Or Two'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy said Wednesday the Pentagon's new outer space and weapons unit—the Advanced Research Projects Agency—will be officially set up "in a day or two."

"We thought it best to have the agency actually set up before appropriations are voted for it," McElroy said in an interview at the Capitol.

He had just completed a second day of closed-door testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee. It is considering a $1.410,000,000 emergency money bill aimed at speeding up the missile-satellites and other urgent defense projects.

ARPA, as the new agency is known from its initials, will first concentrate on "development of an antiballistic-missile missile and outer space projects," McElroy has told Congress.

Confident
McElroy also said he is confident that ARPA can cut through the delays and red tape that have slowed other new military projects or systems in the past.

It will start with 10 million dollars of financing but also has authority to pick up some 38 millions from the Army and 29 millions from the Air Force, previously voted by Congress last year for the antimissile and outer space projects.

Although McElroy testified that he now has ample legal authority to set up ARPA, other than congressional approval for transfer of funds, the House tacked on a rider to a military authorization bill specifically authorizing the agency.

The Senate Armed Service Committee, after talking with McElroy and Pentagon lawyers, eliminated the rider as not germane.

Not Appointed
McElroy said ARPA would be officially set up before its director, expected to be a top military scientist, is appointed.

He also has asked authority to employ 25 scientists and technicians at special high-pay rates for ARPA. The House approved this and the Senate is expected to do the same when it passes the emergency funds bill.

"This is an action agency to get the job done," in McElroy's words.

McElroy was reported in authoritative circles to be scheduled for greatly increased power, under the administration's tentative recommendations for reorganization of the Defense Department.

Little Sayso
As things now stand, the defense chief has little sayso in the control of military funds, once they have been appropriated by Congress. For example, Gen. Lucius Clay, retired, pointed out that the secretary now could cancel a missile project he found unwise, but could not shift its funds to another service developing another missile with more promise.

Also Wednesday, criticism of the present defense research set-up was voiced by Clifford C. Furnas, who was an assistant secretary under former Secretary of Defense Wilson. Furnas is now president of the University of Buffalo. He testified before a House Government Operations subcommittee.

For one thing, Furnas said the assistant secretary for research "can say 'no' to a program but he cannot initiate any positive action."

—Advanced Degrees— Minister, Wife To Graduate Together Here

A Lincoln couple will make a family affair out of University of Nebraska mid-year commencement exercises Saturday morning.

Both the Rev. Marcus D. Bryant and his wife, Virginia, will receive advanced degrees. He will be given a Doctor of Philosophy in educational psychology and she, a Master of Arts with a major in English.

The Rev. Mr. Bryant has worked on his doctorate the past four years while serving as minister of education on a part-time basis at First Christian Church.

His thesis is in the area of gifted children.

He plans to assume a pastorate at the First Christian Church at Waukegan, Ill., March 1.

His wife, who comes from a family of scholars, decided to work toward a Master's Degree to keep her husband company while studying. She also has been an instructor of English for two years.

She completed the typing on her thesis—concerning the writings of Thomas Wolfe—the night before she went to the hospital to give birth to a daughter, Barbara Lynn.

Mrs. Bryant is undecided on continuing toward a Ph.D. But the chances are good, she said. Her husband will have a brand new one and both her father and brother have them.

North Platte Wants To Help Set Up Clinic

North Platte citizens have indicated a "strong interest" in establishment of a mental health clinic there, Harold Peterson of the Board of Control said Wednesday.

The Board held a "preliminary" meeting at North Platte with representatives of the North Platte Chamber of Commerce, Lincoln County Medical Society and the city's two hospitals.

Peterson said Memorial Hospital has sufficient space for the clinic and hospital officials said they will remodel quarters for it.

The Board of Control will provide salaries for staff members and funds for nominal office rental out of the $40,000 appropriated for such a clinic by the 1957 Legislature.

Peterson said it will be necessary to have one or two more planning meetings with the North Platte group.

Griffith Rejects 'Fantastic' Offer To Buy Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Minority stockholder H. Gabriel Murphy made a spectacular—but unsuccessful—pitch Wednesday for control of the Washington Senators. He offered $605 apiece for enough shares to put him in command and was turned down. Murphy's bid for 2,274 shares in the estate of the late Mrs. Clark Griffith amounted to $1,375,770.

Calvin Griffith, president of the American League team, tersely rejected the proposition. He said his family, which holds 52 per cent of outstanding stock, "Is not interested in selling the Washington ball club, either in part or its entirety."

Pearce Invited To ISC

Sauer Also Asked For Interview

AMES, Iowa (AP)—Iowa State Wednesday scheduled interviews with four football coaching candidates in a move directed toward speedily filling the vacancy here.

Called to appear before the athletic council today are Lefty Pearce, former assistant under departed coach Jim Myers, and John D. Bridgers, defensive line coach for the professional Baltimore Colts and a former head coach at Johns Hopkins.

On Friday the council will see George H. Sauer, former Nebraska great and now athletic director at Baylor, and Clay Stapleton, No. 1 assistant at Oregon State.

Pearce, now an assistant at Nebraska, and Stapleton, have been considered the two leading candidates. Sauer, who has guided New Hampshire, Kansas, Navy and Baylor, and Bridgers, a 1946 graduate of Auburn, are newcomers on the list.

Council chairman E. S. Haber said, "This list does not preclude the possibility that additional coaches will be interviewed."

Sauer's 1946 Kansas team was the last to defeat Oklahoma in the conference. He reportedly is paid $12,000 at Baylor.

Dickson Will Try Comeback

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Murry Dickson, given his unconditional release last fall by the St. Louis Cardinals after 18 years as a major league pitcher, will try for a comeback this year with the Kansas City Athletics.

The 41-year-old veteran on the recommendation of his old battery mate, catcher Walker Cooper, who helped Dickson work a sore arm back into shape last fall.

Dickson's best season in the majors was in 1951 when he won 20 and lost 16 for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Last year he had a 5-3 record with the Cards.

Murphy, who has feuded with Griffith for many months, set an unheard of price in baseball stock. In so doing he raised new questions about the taxable value of shares in Mrs. Griffith's estate. The bid quotation for Senators' stock has recently been $150 in over-the-counter listings.

If Murphy's bid were the only factor in appraising the shares, estate taxes could run over $250,000.

Griffith, adopted son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clark Griffith, is executor of the estate. Mrs. Griffith willed a lifetime right to the stock profits to her sister, Mrs. Jeanne Robertson. When Mrs. Robertson dies, the stock will be divided between Calvin Griffith and his sister, wife of club vice president Joe Haynes.

As executor, Griffith is bound to protect the beneficiaries' interests. Murphy, a Washington insurance man, holds the largest single block of Senators' stock, about 40 per cent. He paid $80 a share several years ago. Although the Griffiths' stock is placed together in a family trust, Murphy said he understood it could be sold if all parties agreed.

While Murphy bid $605 for only a portion of the 19,000-plus outstanding shares, projecting his offer would price the ball club at about 11½ million dollars.

The highest ever paid for a major league team was 5½ million, which present owners of the Detroit Tigers paid two years ago. They bought the Tigers in disposition of the Briggs estate after a court ruled beneficiaries' interests would best be satisfied by sale of the franchise.

Murphy said he would bring up his offer at a stockholders' meeting Friday. At that annual meeting last year, Murphy resigned as club treasurer in the face of a reported move by the Griffiths to fire him.

Murphy said he sought control of the team "in order to produce a winner and to end their constant threat of moving the franchise to some other city." The Senators finished last in 1957, both in the standings and home attendance.

Senators Sell Schult

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Senators Wednesday sold Art Schult, outfielder-first baseman, to Minneapolis of the American Assn. The price was not disclosed.

KEEPING SCORE

With Al Beebe

Star Sports Staff Writer

It's difficult to think about sports today. While walking around downtown Wednesday, trying to appear normal while running errands, we saw a city almost in terror.

People in the streets eye fellow pedestrians slightly askance, and look closely at every automobile. There is only one topic of conversation. But we are paid for writing about sport.

A letter from Robert Benson in Sterling prompted one of our errands. He wants a family argument settled, and we went to C. C. Thompson, secretary-treasurer of the Nebraska School Activities Assn., for an answer.

Mr. Benson wonders if an eighth-grader is eligible for varsity high school athletics. The answer is no.

On occasion, eighth-graders have played illegally, and when discovered, they have lost their senior year of high school eligibility, since an athlete is allowed only eight semesters of competition.

Thompson had just to answer this same question in regard to a girl volleyball player. She, too, is under the same rules, and cannot play for the varsity.

The mail also brought a nice card from Ernest Seyler in Alma, who points out that we erred in our rating story Tuesday morning concerning coach Harry Dowell of Alma.

Seems we mistakenly said Dowell was in his first year at Alma. Mr. Seyler corrects us, pointing out that Dowell is in his third year at Alma, and has lost only six games during that time.

Alma is one state champion still rolling along this year. Boys Town in Class AA and Omaha Holy Name in Class A are others given a good chance of defending their titles.

But the other champs are in for trouble. Geneva, Class B title-holder, appears out of the running for a repeat with only three victories this year.

In Class D, Utica is beginning to climb after losing its first two contests. The Crossroads Tourney this week may tell us more about Utica's chances.

And in Class E, Byron has been having its troubles. But partly, the troubles have been a case of mumps which gripped all-stater Ivan Grupe. Byron is rated, and may still win the title again, though the competition looks tough.

Musial To Get $100,000 In '58

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A beaming Stan (The Man) Musial stroked his pen across the richest baseball contract in National League history Wednesday and commented, "I would have settled for less."

Under the new pact, the St. Louis Cardinals will shell out about $100,000 for their 37-year-old lefthanded slugger who bats out of his peculiar, trademarked crouch.

For the past six seasons Musial's salary was $80,000 yearly. The $20,000 boost was, Musial said, "The contract the Cardinals wanted me to have."

Only Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox will likely receive more money this season—an estimated $125,000 when he comes to terms.

"It's a wonderful contract," an all-smiles Musial told a press conference. "It's the best ever offered to a National League player."

"Baseball has rewarded me richly," Stan said, "and the Cardinals have always treated me more than fairly. This year, in particular, the Cardinals wanted me to have this contract. I would have settled for less."

Stan's $80,000 yearly salary was already the high money mark in the league although former Pittsburgh Pirate player Ralph Kiner once was said to have made $90,000 with an attendance clause.

Musial, winner of his seventh National League batting crown last year with a .351 mark, predicted he would have "one or two more seasons at top speed."

The veteran—who captured the league's most valuable player award three times said:

"I won't want to set a limit on the number of games I'm going to play in 1958. I want to play all 154 if I can."

Musial, entering his 17th season with the Cards, reported he was in better physical shape now than in the last few seasons.

He added a shoulder injury which forced him to sit out 20 games last season was coming around. The injury ended Stan's iron man streak at 895 games, a league record.

August A. Busch, Jr., brewery president and head of the Cardinals, signed Musial personally—the only Cardinal given such VIP treatment.

Reporters questions came like line drives at the press conference in Busch's plush office. So fast, in fact, that the main business almost was forgotten.

"Stan are you going to sign that contract or not," someone asked? "I'm not going to forget," Stan replied and finally signed.

In the excitement Busch booted one before the television cameras.

"I know you are going to win your tenth batting championship next year," Busch hummed and stuck his arm around Stan's shoulder.

Stan corrected his boss, saying it would be his eighth.

"I'm sorry," Busch said, but he bravely raced out onto a limb by predicting Stan would hit .355 next year and cop the batting crown again.

Busch's confidence stemmed from a successful prediction. Last year at signing time, Busch said Stan would hit .350 and win the batting crown. Stan took the crown with a .351 mark.

Cozad Duo Takes Lex Tourney Lead

Lincoln Star Special LEXINGTON—Two Cozad men, Ken Stapp and Bob Wells, rolled a 1319 to take the doubles lead in the Matt's Steak House bowling tournament at the Lex-Bowl here.

Stapp and Wells edged George Zeller and Dale Mettenbrink of Grand Island for the doubles lead. The Grand Island duo has a 1264 total.

Others in the top five include Bill Saalfeld and Blake Gladfelter of Columbus, 1255; Del Roe and Myrl Sage, Lexington, 1250 and Jay Portsche and F. Des Jardien, Broken Bow, 1214.

Kelly's Supply of Grand Island continues to hold the team lead with a 2979 while Jack Koll of Ord has a 726 for the singles lead.

The tourney is scheduled to end this weekend.

NFL Bows To Congress, Rules Out Bonus Draft Pick

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—National Football League owners Wednesday night eliminated the bonus choice from their annual player draft. They also reaffirmed their television policy for another year, added another college player protection clause to their rules, and—in a joint action with the Players Association—turned the pension plan problem over to former pro football ace Bill Dudley.

The bonus choice was dropped when the owners were unable to agree upon a method which would not resemble a lottery.

A Congressional committee suggested to NFL Commissioner vesting professional sports had Bert Bell that the out-of-the-hat bonus choice draw bordered on a lottery and advised him to change the system or throw it out.

Bill suggested another method which would have enabled the owners to continue the 12-year-old bonus but it was voted down. The commissioner would have changed the system so that the team with the lowest percentage in the standings at the time of the selection meeting would have received the bonus choice.

In the event a team which already had won the choice was lowest in the standing, the next low team still eligible for the bonus would have been entitled to it.

As to the league's television policy, Bell announced that it would continue to black out games played within 75 miles of the game site.

In order to prevent any criticism from a college, the owners wrote in a rule which would make ineligible for pro play any college or high school player or coach who starts fall training with a school team. This was designed to prevent NFL teams from acquiring players from colleges or high schools in the middle of a season.

Bill Howton, star end of the Green Bay Packers and president of the Pro Players Assn., announced that a joint committee of NFL owners and player representatives had retained Dudley, a former all pro back with the Pittsburgh Steelers, Washington Redskins and Detroit Lions, as their pension consultant in an effort to formulate a player pension program.

In still another action at Wednesday night's executive meeting of the owners, who are gathered here for their annual winter meeting, another suggestion made by congressmen was written into the league's constitution and by-laws.

Bell said that "If for any valid reason it would be impossible for a player to play in a city he has been selected by or the player can show reasonable cause why he should be permitted to play in a city other than designated for him, then through such arrangements as can be made by sale or trade with another club, he shall be permitted to play in the city he prefers if the commissioner approved his reason as valid."

YMCA Goal: Struggle For Hearts And Minds Of Men

"The goal of the Young Men's Christian Assn. is really a world-wide revolution," Joel E. Nystrom, executive secretary of the international committee of YMCA's, said Wednesday.

Speaking before more than 200 persons attending the annual Lincoln Y membership kickoff drive, Nystrom said:

"While the radio, television and newspapers report of satellites, bombs, guided missiles and formerly fantastic prophecies regarding outer space, the YMCA is engaged in a world-wide struggle for the hearts and minds of men. We believe in universal brotherhood."

Campaign

Nystrom told of a campaign in the United States and Canada to help provide 16 million dollars for 116 buildings in 33 countries. Dag Hammarskjöld, secretary general of the United Nations, will open the campaign in Cleveland next week, Nystrom said.

In other business, the group elected William Ammon, R. S. Cederdahl, John Edwards, Don Harrington Jr., Ken Lawson, Robert Magee, Jack Wells and Stan Wentz to the board of directors for three-year terms.

Harry Ankeny and Guy Chambers were elected to the board of trustees for four-year terms.

Elmer Magee, Wendell Groth, Andrew Morrow, Maurice Hyde and John R. Johnson were elected West Central Area Council members.

Re-Elected

Officers of the board of directors re-elected were president, Ken Clark; first vice president, Charles Thorne; second vice president, Ralph Tyler Jr.; secretary, Don Harrington Jr., and treasurer, Bob Magee.

About 174 persons attended the annual meeting and there were 100 at the kick-off meeting for the 1958 membership drive.

A plaque was presented to J. Ben Kniffen, former general secretary of the Lincoln YMCA, in recognition of his long years of service to the organization.

Ships Trapped

TOKYO (U-P) — Icebreakers from the United States, Belgium and Japan are trapped in Antarctic ice packs but are not in danger, the Maritime Safety Board said.

A spokesman said the 6,500-ton U.S. ice-cutter West Wind is trapped off the Princess Martha coast and Belgium's Polahav and Polarsirkel off the Princess Ragnhild coast.

The Japanese Antarctic expedition ship Soya, stuck fast for the past 22 days off the Prince Harald coast, was also reported making little headway to the open sea.

'Most Farm Income Comes On Crops Without Supports'

Almost 67 per cent of total cash receipts on farms in the nation last year came from commodities with no price supports, according to Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation information director Beale Camp, who said:

"Listening to or reading of price support discussions, a stranger might assume that Washington, D.C., controls all agricultural prices. The inference too often is that price supports alone prevent collapse of the agricultural economy."

He said the nation produces more than 250 farm commodities and only 13 crops, plus dairy products and some wool, were in government storage in December, 1957.

Lincoln School District Gets $229,606 Pay

... From U.S.

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Rep. Weaver (R-Neb.) said Wednesday the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved an immediate payment of $229,606 to the Lincoln School District. Rep. Weaver said the tentative entitlement to Lincoln for 1958 from the federal government is $306,142.

The amount, according to School Supt. Steven Watkins, is to reimburse the District for land taken off the tax rolls by federal land and is based on the number of children of federal employees living in the District.

Hot Potato

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Pentagon tossed a hot potato back to Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine).

In answer to her charge that Idaho potatoes are being served to troops at Limestone Air Force Base in Maine, the Defense Department said:

"A thorough check of recent procurements of potatoes... reveals no instances in which other than Maine potatoes have been purchased for supply to armed forces installations in the state of Maine for troop feeding."

Sorensen Will Seek Chance To Appear Before Tax Group

... Carpenter Criticized Valuation Cut

OMAHA (AP)—Omaha City Council President A. V. Sorensen said Wednesday he will request an opportunity to appear before State Sen. Terry Carpenter's legislative tax investigating committee.

Carpenter said Sorensen had obtained a $138,000 cut in his business property valuations. Sorensen was out of town at the time. His attorney said the cut amounted to only $20,625. Sorensen said Wednesday the

Stolen Car Only Little Worse For Wear Upon Return

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Grand Island police said it appeared that someone had stolen a car for a crime, then thoughtfully returned it.

The car was a little the worse for its absence from Wichman's used car lot where it was taken. It was found parked half a block from the lot with 177 additional miles on the speedometer, bullet holes in the windshield and damage to the side which indicated it had been in a "tight place," officers said.

Fairbury Railroad Engineer Is Dead

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP)—Cecil Price, 47, Rock Island railroad engineer from Fairbury, Neb., collapsed in the cab of his locomotive and died of a heart attack, Henry Meyer, Pottawattamie County coroner said.

The train was passing through the city and was halted several blocks away from the spot where Price was first noticed to have collapsed.

Mystery Boom Jars Omaha Area

OMAHA (AP)—A loud boom jarred the Omaha-Council Bluffs area Wednesday afternoon. It was heard in practically all sections of the two cities. Many homes were shaken. Similar booms earlier have been assumed to have been caused by jet planes crashing through the sound barrier. No other explanation was offered for the jarring Wednesday.

The City Council president added: "The point Mr. Carpenter neglected to make was that I had paid taxes for a number of years on property valuations which were admittedly too high."

Sorensen said he would make his complete records available to the committee.

Statehood Outlook Brightens—Seaton

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Seaton said he thinks "prospects for statehood for Alaska and Hawaii are brighter than they ever had been."

Seaton told a news conference he based that view on personal knowledge dating back to 1952, when he came here as a member of the Senate.

"It is purely my personal view, but I hope Congress will see fit to keep the bills separate," Seaton said.

Madison County Legislative Tax Hearing Under Way

MADISON, Neb. (AP)—State Sen. Terry Carpenter told representatives of a collection of Madison County businesses Wednesday that his tax investigating committee "will return later to check on whether the assessors are doing their job."

Ninety businesses were scheduled to present testimony. The committee's hearing here will continue through Friday.

Assessors "now know what to do," Carpenter said. If, when the committee returns, it finds out officials are not doing their jobs, a public hearing will be asked and an attempt may be made to remove such officials, the Scotts-bluff state senator said.

Carpenter said the state tax commissioner is expected to tell assessors to accept future tax returns at their own hazard.

Carpenter also referred to a statute and ruling of the Supreme Court by which a corporation can deduct from the taxable value of its capital stock the amount of U. S. Bonds held on assessment date.

In regard to this law, Carpenter said he is trying to determine whether or not it was known in advance that this law would benefit banks "by cutting their taxes in half."

Gov. Victor Anderson "as a banker had the responsibility to inform the Legislature" that the law would so effect the banks, Carpenter declared.

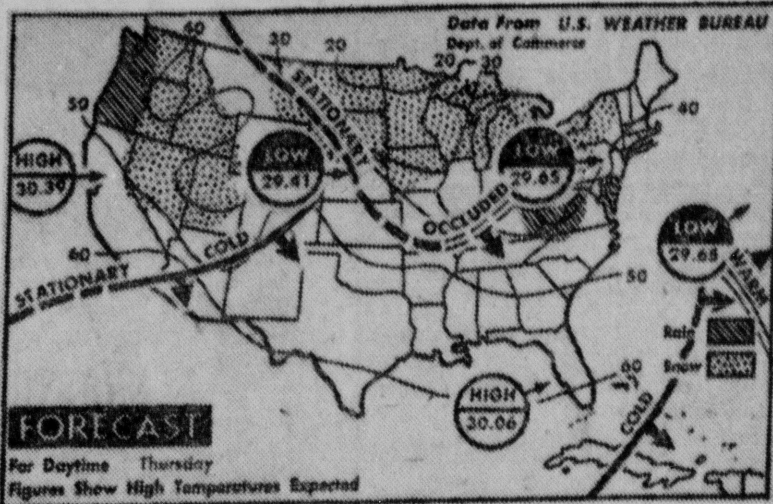

"If these are the laws I want enforced, they are the laws I want repealed," he added.

The governor, commenting on a Carpenter demand for a special session to deal with tax problems, called instead for enforcement of present state tax laws.

The legislative committee was in Dakota City Tuesday for a hearing. At that time Carpenter "withheld comment" on Gov. Anderson's latest rejection of his request for a special session of the Legislature on the tax situation in the state.

Scottsbluff Laborer, 48, Shot To Death

79-Year-Old Tree Trimmer Admits Slaying

GERING, Neb. (AP) — George Kasunick, 48, a Scottsbluff laborer, was shot to death in a hallway of the Gering City Hall Wednesday.

Sheriff Steve Warrick said Homer (Pop) Gaunt, 79, a tree trimmer and itinerant laborer from Scottsbluff, admitted the shooting. Kasunick was killed by a .38 caliber revolver bullet that struck him in the chest.

Sheriff Warrick said the story behind the slaying as he learned it from questioning Gaunt was:

Kasunick's wife had been jailed on charges of intoxication and disturbing the peace and Kasunick had filed a complaint in District Court charging she was mentally incompetent.

Wednesday morning Mrs. Kasunick telephoned Gaunt and asked him to come to the City Hall—the jail is in the basement of the city building—with bail money.

Gaunt went to the City Hall, entered a hallway leading to the jail and there met Kasunick and Mrs. Kasunick's step-father, Irvin Meyers of Alliance.

An argument between Gaunt and Kasunick followed and then a scuffle between the two. A shot was fired and Kasunick fell near the doorway.

No officers were present at the time and Gaunt walked out of the hallway to the street where he waited until Deputy Sheriff C. J. Lane came to report into headquarters.

Gaunt stopped Lane and said "I shot him." Then he handed Lane the .38 caliber revolver he carried in his pocket.

Gale Prevents Takeoff Of Jupiter

ARMY IS ALL SET

...May Come Today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Winds up to 140 miles an hour, liberally laced with rain, washed out the Army's chances of launching the Jupiter-C satellite rocket Wednesday.

But Thursday is another day. The Army is known to be primed for its venture into space. Likely only a few hours of better weather would be needed to bring about an all-out launching try.

The Weather Bureau forecast was for partly cloudy skies Thursday, with lighter winds.

The terrific gales that wiped out any hope of a launching Wednesday were in the upper altitudes.

70 Feet Long

A six-foot thick tube of metal more than 70 feet long, such as the Jupiter-C, could be sheared apart by such winds.

At the very least, the rocket might be buffeted so far out of the proper altitude it must maintain—in order to put its satellite aloft—that its departure from course could not be corrected.

Even down on the ground, gusts were whipping past the launch tower at 20 to 30 miles an hour. Subjected to such wind force before it could attain any momentum at all, the unsupported rocket might be unable to withstand them.

Heavy Rains

Wind was not the only element that plagued the Jupiter-C.

Also serious were drainage problems in the rain-swept launching area.

Only last Friday rain water flooded underground electrical lines, cutting off the power supply to the Air Force launching complex.

This short-circuiting of electric power prevented the Air Force from launching a Thor intermediate range ballistic missile. Not until the weather cleared Tuesday did the Thor get off the ground.

Some Headway Made In Newspaper Strike

ST. PAUL, Minn. (INS)—Some headway was seen Wednesday as negotiations resumed to settle a strike which has closed the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press since Dec. 18.

Daylong sessions produced tentative agreements with the typographical and the mailers' unions. The points are subject to ratification by their memberships.

No agreement was approached, however, between management and representatives of 25 members of the American Newspaper Guild. Talks will continue.

INDIA SENDS THANKS FOR ECONOMIC LOAN

WASHINGTON (INS)—The United States has received a warm note of thanks from India for its offer of a $225,000,000 economic loan with "no political or economic strings attached to the aid."

Indian Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari said in a letter to U.S. Ambassador to India Ellisworth Bunker that "actions of this kind serve to strengthen the concept of the world community and the way of individual liberty and democracy in which we believe."

—Auto Workers— NO-STRIKE EFFORTS PROMISED

... By Reuther

WASHINGTON (INS)—Auto Workers President Walter Reuther testified Wednesday he will do "everything humanly possible to avoid a strike" in the automobile industry this year.

Reuther gave this word in winding up testimony on auto pricing policies after a flare-up in which he accused Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) of "representing the viewpoint" of General Motors.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) asked the UAW chief if there will be an auto strike this year if the union does not "get its way 100 per cent" in the forthcoming contract negotiations.

Reuther replied: "We never get our way 100 per cent. I said to our convention that I prayed we could avoid a strike and we will do everything humanly possible to avoid a strike. We don't want a strike and I know the industry doesn't want a strike."

Dirksen warned Reuther that his proposal to create a federal consumers' counsel and force auto producers to air in advance the reasons for price boosts, would, if expanded, "be the end of the free economic system."

Reuther first charged that Dirksen, who was cross-examining him on the union's 1958 demands for a profit-sharing wage contract, was acting as GM's "representative here."

When both Dirksen and Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) took issue with this, Reuther withdrew his original statement and said that the Republican was "possibly representing the viewpoint" of the big auto firm by having a similar view of his own.

—ANKARA—

New Help Promised

... To Baghdad Nations

ANKARA, Turkey (U.S. Sec. of State)—U.S. Secretary of State Dulles Wednesday pledged an additional 10 million dollars, contingent upon congressional approval, to improve communications in the strategic Middle East area covered by the Baghdad Pact Nations.

He coupled the pledge with a warning that some austerity might be necessary on the part of the free world to meet the Soviet Union's mounting economic offensive in the Middle East and elsewhere.

Shortly after Dulles spoke here, the Soviet Union and Egypt signed an agreement in Moscow for long-term loans which an Egyptian spokesman said would meet all his country's needs for industrial development. Moscow has also extended economic aid to Egypt's close ally, Syria. Egypt is bitterly opposed to the Baghdad Pact, which Moscow has also denounced.

The United States had previously pledged eight million dollars to build telecommunication links in this Middle East area, where a telephone call from Baghdad to Tehran must now be routed by way of London.

Chicago Builder Silent On Union 'Collusion' Query

WASHINGTON (INS)—A Chicago builder refused Wednesday to tell Senate investigators whether he had been in "collusion" with Operating Engineers Union President William E. Maloney.

S. A. Healy invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked whether he and Maloney joined forces to the financial benefit of each other and to the detriment of union members.

Healy, identified by the senate rackets committee as one of the nation's biggest contractors, also refused to say whether he had received special favors from the international union or its locals.

The Chicagoan took the stand after committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said convicted extortionist Joey Fay had cost Local 825 in Newark, N.J., $238,000 in the past 10 years.

$10,000 Yearly Pension

Staff Investigator James F. Mundy said Fay would have had to pay $105,000 into the union over 30 years to obtain the $10,000 annual pension accorded him by the local in 1956. But Fay paid nothing, he said.

Kennedy said the $105,000—plus $63,000 in legal fees paid by the union to defend Fay; $67,800 in payments and bonuses to Mrs. Fay, and a $3,000 automobile for Mrs. Fay—brought the total outlay to $238,000.

The Senate probers questioned whether it was love or intimidation that channeled the union funds into the hands of Fay and his wife.

Fay, ex-business agent of the Newark local, said that loyalty to him and love for his wife were the only motivations. But Kennedy said union members dared not oppose the handouts for fear of losing their "lives and livelihood."

Wouldn't Testify

Healy, who refused to testify in Fay's New York extortion trial in the 1940s by remaining in Illinois, would not say whether he ever made payments to Maloney or had business dealings with the union president.

The committee contended, however, that Maloney, Healy and Oral B. Soucie, former head of the Terre Haute local, entered into two unsuccessful oil well ventures in Indiana in 1951. It said Soucie now is serving a federal prison term for extortion.

Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said the refusal of a contractor doing millions of dollars in business on government contracts to answer questions about his relations with labor bosses is "disappointing."

He added: "It's a kind of sordid picture from where I look at it."

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said he was "shocked" and "saddened" by Healy's stand.

—U.S. PRESIDENT—

Disability Formula Readied

VP Would Serve In Case Of Need

WASHINGTON (U.S. A legislative formula for a vice president to serve, in case of need, as acting President was reported Wednesday to have been worked out in conferences of House leaders.

A draft of a proposed presidential disability statute was laid before a special House judiciary subcommittee, which met in strict secrecy. It was understood to have discussed the draft with Attorney General Rogers and asked him to examine it and report back with the views of President Eisenhower's administration.

Meanwhile, Chairman Celler (D-NY) of the judiciary committee said, "There is no agreement whatsoever."

However, the preparation of the draft bill followed meetings of subcommittee members with House leaders of both parties.

The bill would create a commission on Presidential Inability, made up mostly of key House and Senate members.

Creates Commission

It would provide that, when a President declared himself incapacitated, or when the commission by a vote of at least six of its seven voting members so found, the vice president would take over the "powers and duties" of the presidency as acting President. By similar procedure, the President or the commission could declare the President recovered, and he would resume active exercise of his office.

The question of temporary succession to the presidency has often been discussed, especially during the long periods of physical disability suffered by Presidents Garfield and Wilson. But the vague language of the Constitution on the subject has never been implemented.

The subject was again discussed after President Eisenhower's first-term heart attack and his subsequent illnesses. Eisenhower himself urged Congress to clear up the constitutional doubts.

Promotional Co-Operation Is Suggested

For Four States Along Highway 30

OGALLALA, Neb. (U.S. Promotional activities of Highway 30 organizations in four states would be broadened at a saving in costs under a proposal considered at Ogallala for presentation at the April convention of the Lincoln System of Highways, Inc. The convention will be held in Grand Island.

Ray McKim, Grand Island, president of the Lincoln system and the Nebraska Highway 30 Association, presented the proposal at a luncheon meeting of Nebraska and Wyoming representatives. Utah and Nevada, spokesmen for organizations similar to the ones in Nebraska and Wyoming, McKim said, already have indicated support of the plan.

In the past, McKim said, separate highway groups in the four states have joined in promotional activities and duplication and lack of co-ordination have resulted. Each state group has procured and maintained traffic-promotion signs placed strategically between Chicago and the West Coast, but has joined the other states in the cost of printing and distribution of brochures and stickers on a nationwide basis.

"All of us share in the benefits of Highway 30 traffic and should pool the costs proportionately," McKim told the two-state group.

Spanish Envoy Named In London Separation Suit

LONDON (INS)—Spain's handsome ambassador to the Court of St. James's resigned Wednesday after being named in a separation suit by a British war hero against his pretty young wife.

The resignation of Duke Miguel Primo de Rivera y Sanz de Heredia, Marquis de Estella, shocked London society.

He has been one of its most popular figures since being assigned to the important London post seven years ago.

Primo de Rivera, 53, is a close friend of Generalissimo Franco and the son of the general who ruled Spain in the twenties.

The duke shunned possible immunity in what may prove to be an unprecedented case, saying he was relieved to be able to leave the matter to the courts.

The separation suit in which the nobleman is involved was started last December by former paratroop Maj. Anthony Greville-Bell, 36, against his wife, Helen, 28, whom he married in 1955.

London newspapers had speculated the duke would claim diplomatic immunity.

Lincoln Bought Guns, Ammo In Fear, Anger

By SAM HALL
Star Staff Writer

"Somebody's got to stop that maniac"—"With a mad man like that loose no one's safe"—"It's about time we got that crazy guy." With a tone of fear in their voices, Lincolns had one thing in mind Wednesday afternoon—get Charles Starkweather.

As the mass hysteria gripped Lincoln, the sales of ammunition and fire arms sky rocketed.

"People bought anything that would shoot," said Don Stokes, salesman in a local hardware store. "They weren't even particular what they bought," he added.

4 Trips To Warehouse

"We had to make four or five trips to the warehouse in order to keep up with the demand," Stokes said. "I'd estimate," he added,

Officials Fly Today To Ask Extradition

City and county officials will fly Thursday morning in an Air National Guard C-47 to Wyoming in an effort to have Charles Starkweather returned to Nebraska for prosecution on murder charges.

"We're going to do our utmost to get him back here," Lancaster County Atty. Elmer Scheele said Wednesday night.

Accompanying Scheele will be Sheriff Chief Karnopp, Asst. Police Merle Eugene Masters, Capt. Harold Smith of the Nebraska Safety Patrol and Sgt. Gerald V. Teach of the Patrol's criminal investigation division.

The Nebraska plane is scheduled to leave Lincoln about 8 a.m. and land at Casper, Wyo., some four hours later, according to Capt. Lloyd Johnson, the plane's pilot.

Casper is about 50 miles from Douglas, where Starkweather and Carol Fugate are being held. Arrangements with the Wyoming Highway Patrol have been made for the overland connection.

that we sold 35 to 40 rifles and pistols in a two-hour period."

Some were buying the guns for their own protection, some were intending to go seek out Starkweather.

Gary D. Fillman, 28, of 1009 So. 19th who purchased a pistol and ammunition said "My mother and grandmother both live alone and I'm not going to fool around and take any chances."

"I'll even go out on the posse if it's necessary," he exclaimed.

Somebody's Got To

James B. Dahlberg, 26, of 3735 So. 48th bought a box of deer rifle shells indicating his intentions of joining the posse. "Somebody's got to capture that Starkweather," he said.

Dr. V. E. Lofgren, 38, of 3040 So. 40th, who purchased shells, said, "These are just for the family's and my protection."

"I hope they're used just for goose season next year," Dr. Lofgren added.

'What Would You Do'

A local railroad employee who spends much time from home said, "I'm buying a pistol for my wife's protection. What would you do?"

Bill Ayer, 21, of 1964 Ryons explained it this way: "I'm not intending to go on a posse, just going home. If he should show up then I'll have some protection."

SPECIAL INTEREST

Among the people buying fire arms and ammunition were two persons with a special interest in the Starkweather murders.

They were Frank Street, 39, of 720 Nance, a brother to the slain Mrs. Betty Bartlett, and Tom Beecham, 24, of Bennett, a neighbor and close friend of the murdered August Meyer.

Beecham's residence is just one mile from the abandoned school house, where the two teenager's bodies were found.

"I'm going on the posse," Street said, "and it's not the reward I'm after either."

Beech said, "it's hard telling where he went, so I'm buying a rifle for my own protection."

Malone Center Cited For Civic, Social Usefulness

"In these days when everybody is concerned about missiles and the training of scientists and mathematicians, it is good that there are still some organizations teaching people to live together," John McDowell of New York said Wednesday night.

McDowell, executive secretary of the National Federation of Settlements and Neighborhood Centers and president of the National Assn. of Social Workers, spoke at the Malone Community Center annual meeting.

Community centers are needed in response to the growth of cities, McDowell said, because there is less informal neighborliness and less family self-sufficiency.

Community centers help people work as a group, teach the place of leaders, minority rights and majority rule and offer "an enriching personal experience," he said.

People Become Active

It helps people to become active in civic affairs in their own behalf, he said.

Mrs. Izzetta Malone was re-elected president of the board of trustees.

Other officers are Richard Guilford, first vice president; Margaret Anderson, second vice president; Helen Pickard, treasurer, and Nora DeCory, secretary.

The Rev. Peter Raible was elected to serve a one-year term on the board of trustees and Harry Seward, James Stewart and Mrs. Lenora Letcher were elected to three-year terms.

Re-elected for their second three-year terms were Dr. Madison Brewer, Earl Dyer, Elsie FitzGerald, H. O. McField and Mrs. Betty Sheaff.

1 Suffers Minor Hurts In Four-Car Collision

One man suffered minor injuries in a four-car crash Wednesday afternoon.

Paul E. Newcombe of 6336 Fremont, traveling south on 27th, was in a head-on collision with a car driven by Robert A. Pease, 29, of 1545 Grace Dr., police said. The impact drove the Pease car back into a third auto and Newcombe's car reeled out of control into a fourth car parked at the scene on 27th between Vine and Pear, officials said.

Newcombe was treated for minor cuts and released from a Lincoln hospital.

Won't Pay Taxes

MANILA (AP)—The Internal Revenue office recommended the deportation of more than 1,200 aliens for prolonged tax delinquencies totaling at least $500,000. Deputy Commissioner Melcio Mariano said 90 per cent are Chinese.

Coffee this morning under the 16th Century colonnade in Morelia, Mexico. The rain keeps coming down. Water spouts from a row of antique Spanish drain pipes.

The ones that look like small cannon pointing into the street.

The Indians are wrapped to the eyes in brown - and black serapes.

It is well known that wet, chill days should not be breathed direct. They give you the "airs"—that's bad for you.

Over the serape, they wear a homemade raincoat. A fringe of broad-leaved water reeds. They drive a string of burros loaded with charcoal. Charcoal sells well in this weather.

My small radio is being repaired in a sidewalk stand across the street. I took the back off last night. Inside is a little notice from the manufacturer:

"Do NOT attempt to adjust this radio! Take it to an authorized Radio Blotto dealer, located in nearly every city or town."

Not in this town, however. Our dealer works in a cubbyhole. Surrounded by radio insides, their wires trailing forlornly over the counter.

"What a beautiful little radio!" A few sellers of lottery tickets and the next door ice cream seller come over for a look. "What do you wish me to do?"

"It does not play."

"Ha!" The mechanic seizes a screw driver and tries to pry the back off.

"It unscrews," I said hurriedly. "So it does." He unscrewed the

Law, Church Swap

DOVER, N. J. (AP)—The church and the law swapped.

Salvation Army Capt. Thomas C. Smith, a 35-year-old minister, quit his post and was sworn in as a cop.

And in nearby Chester, Franklin M. Ritchie, announced he was retiring as a magistrate and lawyer at 63 to study in Scotland for the Presbyterian ministry.

"What a complication." "Can it be fixed?"

"Who knows? Return at 1 o'clock."

I returned at 1 o'clock. A new man was on duty. He said the other technico had gone home. "He returns about 5 o'clock," he said vaguely. I think the technico has run out of inspiration and has taken my radio over to show it to the village saint.

The Mexico City papers have not arrived. The Indian lady who sells them does not know when they will come. "Quien sabe?" She has a fresh supply of comic books, though. She recommends Mickey Mouse—El Raton Miel.

BANKS CAN'T DEDUCT BUILDING CORP. STOCK-ATTORNEY GENERAL

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

A national bank which owns all the stock of its building corporation may not deduct the value of such stock in arriving at the value of the bank stock, according to an opinion from the Attorney General's office Wednesday.

The opinion, requested by Lancaster County Attorney Elmer Scheele, was written by Assistant Attorney General Homer G. Hamilton and signed by Attorney General C. S. Beck.

This opinion also holds that banks may not deduct U.S. securities from their capital assets in determining valuation for assessment purposes.

Uniformity

John Burke, deputy county attorney for Douglas County, has contended that since corporations are allowed to deduct such securities, banks also are allowed to do so under the uniformity clause.

He bases the contention on a Nebraska Supreme Court decision involving Peter Kiewit Sons Co. vs. Douglas County.

The attorney general's opinion held, however, that an examination of the history of the statute under which the value of bank stock is determined "reveals that the deductions allowed have been substantially the same since the adoption of the present constitutional requirements in 1920."

'For Many Years'

The opinion continues that the "differences in method of assessment between banks and other corporations now present have existed for many years."

The opinion explained: "In the absence of a court decision holding that the use of different factors in arriving at the value of the stock of different types of corporations results in complete lack of uniformity, it is impossible to state that the method used for banks is clearly unconstitutional, although its validity may be doubtful."

Deputy Tax Commissioner Wilber Houtchens, who had differed with Burke on the interpretation of the Kiewit case and had contended that statutes governing assessment of banks had not been changed, said he was "satisfied" with the decision.

-Services Planned Friday- Word Of Capture Relief To Bennet

Residents Of Village Still Stunned By Triple Slayings

Lincoln Star Special
BENNET, Neb. — A wave of relief spread over this community Wednesday afternoon as word arrived here of the capture in Wyoming of the Lincoln teenagers wanted for questioning in connection with the tragic triple slaying in this small Lancaster County town.

"Things have cooled down," reported R. E. Clark, Bennet editor, "although the area was still full of armed law officers" earlier Wednesday, scouring the vicinity for the then-missing Lincoln youths.

The car in which Charles R. Starkweather, 425 No. 10th, and Carl Ann Fugate, 14, 924 Belmont, were believed to have made their getaway from Lincoln Monday was found abandoned near the scene where the bodies of August Meyer, 70, Bennet, Carol King, 16, and Robert Jensen, 17, were discovered, leading authorities to suspect the Lincolnities of the tragedy.

Meanwhile, double funeral services for the Bennet youths have been scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday at the Bennet Community Church. The Rev. Ervil F. Gustafson, pastor of the church, will officiate.

Services for Mr. Meyer, who resided on a farm east of Bennet, will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at the Trinity Lutheran Church near Walton. The Rev. D. F. Luebke will be in charge.

Although school was in session as usual at Bennet Wednesday, "school books were the last thing the students were thinking about," Clark said. Both Carol and Robert, juniors in high school here, were prominent in school activities, and popular with their fellow students.

Kept Watchful Guard

During the night Tuesday, Bennet residents as well as farm families kept a watchful guard on their homes, fearing the possible return of those responsible for the "senseless" murders, Clark added.

Townpeople of Bennet, located in eastern Lancaster County with a population of 396, were finding it difficult Wednesday to return to normalcy in the wake of Tuesday's sorrowful events.

Security Mutual Life Insurance Co. Re-elects Directors

R. E. Campbell, Donald I. Parker and T. A. Sick were re-elected to the board of directors of Security Mutual Life Insurance Co. Wednesday. Parker is executive vice president of the company and Sick is president.

M. A. Hyde was re-elected director emeritus.

Other members of the board are John H. Agee, Robert A. Dobson, Merle M. Hale, John F. Lawlor and William N. Mitten.

Sick reported 1957 was a record year in the company's history. New life insurance sales, exclusive of federal employees group insurance, totaled $38,333,392, an increase of 48 per cent over 1956.

The company's life insurance in force, not including annuities, amounted to $188,311,983 at the end of the year. Assets were $33,006,161.

Sick said the company expects 1958 operations to exceed those of 1957. He said the company will move into its new home office building at 200 No. 15th this spring.
